

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—The state department is keeping it very shush-shush but it is making an exhaustive investigation of the undercover activities of certain Spanish supporters in this country of rebel General Franco.

Under particular scrutiny is Juan de Cardenas, who resigned as Ambassador to the United States following the outbreak of the fascist revolt. Cardenas heads a group of Spaniards who call themselves the "Junta de Defensa Nacional." They maintain headquarters in a ritzy New York hotel and carry on an extensive correspondence with American fascist elements.

Two of Cardenas' chief lieutenants are Jose de Gregorio, former second secretary of the Spanish embassy in Washington, and Manuel Alonso Spanish tennis star.

The Junta works in close co-operation with the "Casa de Espana," another pro-Franco organization, which also has offices in a fashionable New York hotel and displays the old Spanish monarchist colors as its emblem.

Reason for the state department's special interest in Cardenas and his Junta is the fact that they proclaim themselves to be the representatives of Franco in the United States. What the state department wants to know is exactly what this representation amounts to.

The U. S. government does not recognize Franco and his rebel regime. It does have official relations with the Loyalist government, whose duly accredited ambassador is Fernando de los Rios.

The United States code provides heavy penalties for representing a foreign government in this country without the authorization of the state department. Title 22 of the code states, "...anyone who represents himself as an agent of a foreign government without prior notification of the secretary of state shall be fined not more than $5,000, or imprisoned not more than five years, or both."

What makes the inquiry serious is the fact that the state department is in possession of evidence that might be grounds for action against Cardenas on the charge of violating this law.

The evidence consists of a letter from a Spaniard named Dionisio Trigo describing his activities in Puerto Rico in behalf of Franco. Although not accredited by the state department, Trigo calls himself Consul of the Franco regime in Puerto Rico. The portion of Trigo's letter that made the state department sit up and take notice reads as follows:

"I am receiving every day registrations and lists of hundreds of Spaniards who wish the establishment of a registry book. To that effect I am waiting news from our Ambassador Extraordinary in New York, Mr. Cardenas. From this item alone I expect to collect in one or two months from twenty to thirty thousand dollars, which amount I shall send to our government."

The state department recognizes one Spanish Ambassador Extraordinary, Senor de los Rios. If Cardenas is making such pretensions it wants to know how and why.

"Thank Heaven"

Friends of able young Chairman Arthur Altmeyer of the social security board are telling this story on him.

Recently he made a speech on the work of his agency. Mrs. Altmeyer was in the audience, and afterwards he asked her how his talk went over.

"Well," she replied, "I'm afraid the reaction was rather mixed. I thought you did very well, but a portly man who sat next to me kept remarking, Gosh, what a bore this fellow is."

"Finally I couldn't contain myself any longer. I turned to him and said: 'If you don't like it why don't you leave and allow others who are enjoying the speech do so?' He replied, 'You must be one of his friends.'"

"I'm his wife," I said, whereupon he asked me if I knew who he was. I told him I did not.

"Thank heaven," he exclaimed, and reached for his hat and fled."

Court Packers

Senator Henry Ashurst, just-losing New Deal chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee pulled a fast one on a group of anti-administration colleagues.

Two of the five members of the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico are totally incapacitated; one is blind and the other seriously ill in a Baltimore hospital. Despite their inability to attend to their duties, they have refused to resign. This has greatly impaired the work of the court, and the local bar recently petitioned the justice department for relief.

As there is no way to force the two men to quit, the only solution

SEVEN KILLED IN BUS-SEDAN CRASH TODAY

Fifteen Injured Are Taken To Nearby Communities

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 31—(AP)—At least seven persons were reported to have been killed five miles north of here today in a crash of a heavily-loaded transport bus and a sedan. Twenty injured were brought to hospitals here and at least 15 others were reported to have been taken to nearby cities.

Three of the dead were identified as A. G. Carpenter of Iowa City, Ia.; Mrs. James Kelleher of Albany, N. Y.; and Raymond J. Buskin of St. Louis.

Carpenter and Mrs. Kelleher were passengers and Buskin was an attendant on the bus. The accident occurred at the intersection of roads 20 and 15. The sedan was traveling on road 15, which is marked by stop signs at its intersection with road 20, a through east-west highway on which the bus was eastbound. The heavy vehicle overturned and came to a stop on its top. The sedan was demolished and the bus was badly damaged.

Occupants Unknown

There were about 40 passengers on the bus.

The occupants of the sedan were unknown. A card was found in it, however, bearing the name "Allison Bishopric Manufacturing company, Cincinnati, O."

The driver of the bus was Lee Callahan, 39, of Toledo. The bus was bound from Chicago to Cleveland.

Ambulances from Goshen and Elkhart were rushed to the scene and the dead and injured were hurried to hospitals, making immediate identification difficult.

The bodies of Carpenter, Mrs. Kelleher, Buskin and an unidentified man were brought to Goshen by ambulance drivers who said three other bodies remained at the wreckage.

Coroner Karl Vetter later identified two of the bodies at those of Allison Bishopric, president of the Bishopric Products company of Cincinnati, driver of the sedan, and John H. Heinsohn of Buffalo, N. Y., a bus passenger.

No Primary Voting Will Save $3,000 For Lee County

Lee county will realize a saving of about $3,000 this fall in not being required to hold a primary election, preliminary to the selection of circuit and county judges at the special election in December, it was announced today by State's Attorney Edward A. Jones. The cost of conducting a primary election in Lee county is estimated at about $3,000, it was stated.

Because candidates for circuit judge will be selected by the respective parties, and but one candidate has filed for the unexpired term of county judge, a primary will not be necessary. Yesterday was the final date for the filing of petitions for candidates for county judge and the single aspirant is Attorney Grover W. Gehant of this city. The date of the election has been set for December 7.

Investigate Story Broker Went To Prison to Shield Father

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—A declaration that a young Chicago broker went to the penitentiary to shield his dead father's reputation was studied today by a state parole board committee weighing the prisoner's plea for clemency.

The petitioner for parole was Charles G. Koepke. He took over his father's real estate business after the latter was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in his locked garage in 1931.

Koepke was sentenced in May, 1936 to one to 10 years after confessing his accounts were short at least $50,000.

Attorney Reuel H. Grunewald, who represented Koepke at the parole hearing yesterday, said the father, Charles A. Koepke, was responsible for a shortage of $150,000 through bad speculations.

The attorney charged young Koepke was urged by his mother,

At Paw Paw

Robert Wadlow, the "boy giant" whose home is in Alton will attend the Homecoming at Paw Paw on Labor Day, Sept. 6, according to advices received by the program committee for Paw Paw's annual event. Wadlow is not only the tallest man living in the world today but he has outstripped all the giants in the past of whom there are any authentic records. Although only 19 years old he stands 8 feet 7 inches tall and is still growing. He weighs 450 pounds and wears number 36 shoes. All his clothing, of course, even to his socks, is made to order. His parents, brothers and sisters are of normal size. Robert is a graduate of Alton high school and has had one semester at Shurtleff College. Reports indicate that large numbers of people in this part of the state will desire to see him. No charges are made to the Homecoming celebration.

LEE CENTER'S SCHOOL BOARD IS BEING SUED

Named Defendants In Mandamus Action

A mandamus action has been filed with Circuit Clerk E. S. Rosenkrans in the Lee county circuit court by Charles H. Albers, receiver of the Amboy State bank, against the board of education of Community high school district No. 251 of Lee Center, to compel the board to amend its 1937 tax levy to include an assessment sufficient to pay a judgment held by the bank in the amount of $572.45 and court costs, dated May 1, 1933. The defendants named in the petition which was filed today by the firm of Warner & Warner representing the plaintiff, are Alfred White, Harry Eaton, A. P. Case, Herbert Parker, William Prost, Jr., Clayton Rockwood, treasurer, and Sterling D. Schrock, county clerk of Lee county.

The petition sets forth that on May 1, 1933, a judgment in the amount of $572.45 and costs of the suit was entered in the Lee county circuit court in favor of Earl W. Varty, receiver of the Amboy State bank, a corporation, against the high school district. It is further alleged that the school board has failed, omitted and refused to perform its duty for the four years past, in providing necessary funds by tax levy and appropriations to satisfy the amount and has also failed to file the same with the county clerk of Lee county, Sterling D. Schrock.

The plaintiff asks the court in its action to mandamus the board to take action by appropriating for the year 1937 an amount sufficient and to order County Clerk Schrock to permit the tax levy record to be amended and filed.

Leaves Today For Deer Hunting Trip

William A. Schuler left this evening for California. He will first go to the orange ranch of his son, Bernie Schuler, in Staphmore. They will then proceed to Pasadena to be joined by George Schuler and friend, Mr. Hill, and together they will go 50 miles up the mountain by truck. They will change to horses and mule pack for 24 miles, ending in the high Sierras where they will establish a camp for deer hunting. Mr. Schuler will be gone five or six weeks.

Former Dixonite Dies In Chicago

Raymond Elmer Leas, formerly of this city, passed away quite suddenly at his home in Chicago on Aug. 18, his death being due to a heart attack. The funeral was held Aug. 21 at Chicago and the service was in charge of the American Legion post of which the deceased was a member. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Weststead and Mrs. Jessie Weststead of this city attended the funeral.

The deceased was born in Millerville and came to Dixon with his parents, Elmer and Margaret Weststead Leas about 35 years ago. He made his home here until he entered the service of his country at the outset of the World War at Camp Grant. After receiving his discharge for service abroad, he settled in Chicago where he was employed as baggage man at the Polk street terminal, which position he held at the time of his sudden passing. His wife, who is among the survivors, was a former resident of Pine Creek township in Ogles county.

CHINA OFFERS FULL REDRESS FOR BOMBING

Apologizes To Hull Admits Aviators Made Mistake

Washington, Aug. 31—(AP)—The Chinese government proposed to the United States today full financial and moral redress for the bombing yesterday of the Dollar liner, the President Hoover.

SHERIFFS HELD FOR ACCEPTING LIQUOR BRIBE

Allegedly Returned Seized Stock To Operators

Chicago, Aug. 31—(AP)—Two Will county deputy sheriffs were stripped of their badges today and arrested on charges of seizing 250 gallons of illicit alcohol and returning it to the still operators for $500.

The men, Paul Peterson, 32, of Lockport, and John R. Barber, 44, of Joliet, were ordered arraigned on charges of conspiracy and unlawful transportation un-tax-paid liquor.

Sheriff Michael J. Breen of Will county brought the men before U. S. District Attorney Michael L. Igoe after agents of the alcohol tax unit complained to the prosecutor.

The agents said that on Aug. 9, while they were watching the Rothlisberger farm near Marley, they saw Peterson and Barber, whom they did not then know, drive up in a white car of the sheriff's department. Later a truckload of liquor was driven away, accompanied by the white car.

Igoe's Statement

Igoe said investigation disclosed the two deputies had seized 250 gallons of alcohol and 27 bags of sugar, and that the next day both were returned for a "consideration" of $500.

Breen expressed indignation upon learning of the case and stripped his deputies of their stars in the district attorney's office. They then were placed under formal arrest.

Recognizes Visit Of Native Son To Old Home Town

The Douglas Budget published at Douglas, Converse county, Wyo., of Aug. 26, contained the following item concerning a Dixon resident:

"Scott Lowry of Dixon, Ill., who left Douglas 36 years ago, made his first return visit this week. He found a Douglas that was not like the one he left. Lowry 'punched cows' for R. B. Lucas with whom he had a pleasant visit. He also met a number of other old timers whom he remembered from the old days, but their number was not many."

Mr. Lowry was accompanied by his brother, George W. Lowry of Wheatland. George is another old timer of Wyoming but he remained here while Scott went back to Illinois.

To Reconsider Ban On Driving of Cars By Relief Workers

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—At a special meeting tomorrow night, the Rockford town board will reconsider its ban on the driving of automobiles by relief clients. Action was deferred until then at a meeting last night.

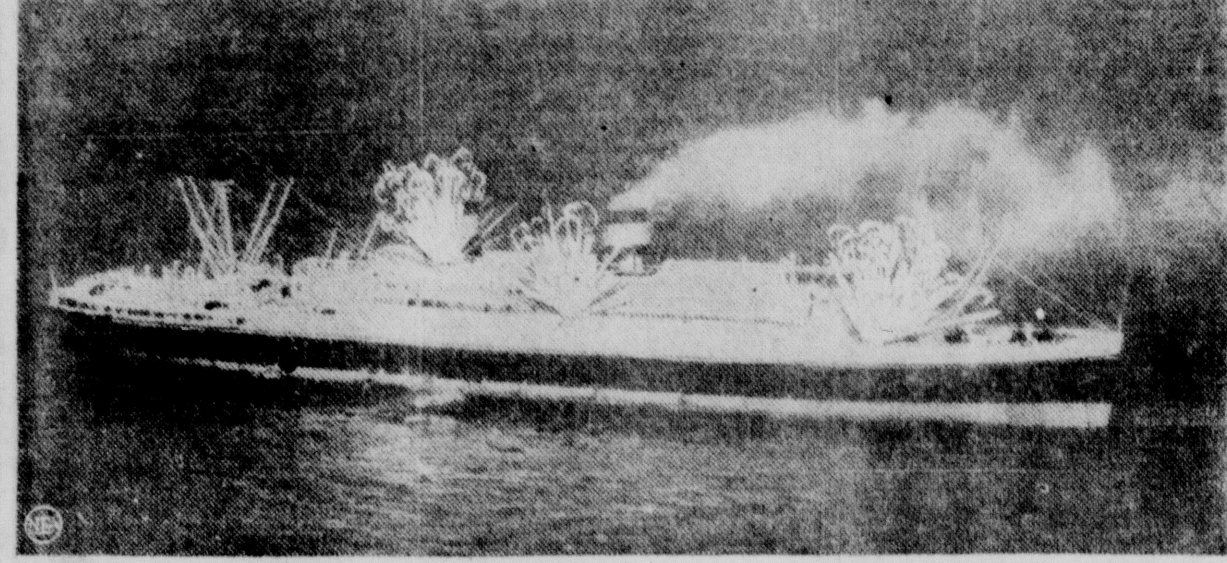

The board will listen to arguments by a war veterans' group and Relief Overseer Melvin C. Smith that the indigent should be permitted to drive their cars.

The board previously had voted to prohibit use of cars except in cases where they were driven for business purposes.

COMPOSERS' CONFERENCE

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—The annual conference of the Illinois daily newspaper composing room executives' association will be held here Sept. 25 and 26. President Gonigam of Ottawa said the program would deal with mechanical problems of newspaper production.

Seven Wounded as Planes Bomb American Liner

Approaching within 50 miles of Shanghai after a trip to Manila with American women and children refugees, the Dollar liner President Hoover was attacked and bombed three times by four planes reported to have been Chinese. Seven members of the crew were wounded, two seriously. The ship made port under its own power. In the picture above the artist has indicated approximately where the bombs struck.

Mrs. Sarah C. Cupp Called to Eternal Rest Early Today

Mrs. Sarah C. Cupp, a resident of Dixon since 1912, when she moved to this city with her late husband from a farm west of Haldane, passed away at her home, 1404 Third street, at 2:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of five weeks duration. Had she lived until Sept. 16th she would have celebrated her 81st birthday.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church officiating, and with burial in the Haldane cemetery beside the body of her husband, and a daughter, Vernie, who preceded her in death May 5, last.

Mrs. Cupp was born near Forreston and all her life was spent in this community. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Ada Hehl and Mrs. Sylvia Patchin of Rockford; Mrs. Elvia Garman of Polo and Mrs. Grace Osborne of Rockford; three sons, Harvey of Columbus, O.; Leslie of Polo and Earl at home; nine grandchildren and five great grandchildren, all of whom mourn the passing of a loving and tenderly solicitous companion. Two grandchildren also preceded her in death.

Automobile Worker Unable to Explain Why He Killed Child

Detroit, Aug. 31—(AP)—A 45-year-old automobile worker, whose wife told officers he had been subjected to irrational spells since the death of his own daughter eight years ago, led police today to the body of Evelyn Mack, 10, hidden in a clump of weeds at the outskirts of the city.

Police Lieut. Walter Bachor said that Joseph Jacobs, a friend of long standing of the Mack family, confessed he crushed the child's skull with an automobile crank, yielding to an impulse he could not explain.

Jacobs, the officer said, told him he killed the child between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, shortly after he had obtained permission from her mother, seriously ill, to

POLO MAN FACES MORE CHARGES OF FORGING CHECKS

Other Checks Reported Picked Up, Believed McKay's Work

Hugh McKay III of Polo, formerly of Dixon, who is to appear before Judge Leon Zick in county court Friday upon an application for probation, and a former parolee out of the county court, today faced additional charges of forgery, it was stated by Sheriff Miller at noon.

A check which was passed at the Currys store in Nachusa on May 11, made payable to Ben Rowland and signed, "L. G. Roar, Dixon, Theater," in the sum of $19.25 was investigated by Sheriff Miller today and according to that official, McKay admitted writing and passing the check.

McKay was arrested one week ago at his home in Polo and brought to the county jail following the investigation into the passing of a worthless check to which the name of Dr. W. J. Worsley of this city had been forged. Today, Sheriff Miller learned that a check for the sum of $18.50 had been passed at a Galva, Ill., service station to which the local dentist's name had been forged. This was being investigated this afternoon together with reports of numerous checks alleged to bear the forged signature of L. G. Rorer which have been circulated in several small towns during the past summer.

Upon his arrest one week ago, McKay admitted having passed the forged check using the name of Dr. W. J. Worsley at the Olmstead service station on Everett street and Upham Place. In each instance, small purchases were made and the remainder collected in cash.

Admitted Two Wills For Probate Today

Two wills were admitted to probate in the county court this morning by Judge Leon H. Zick. One was that of Mrs. Helen J. Avery, whose death occurred Aug. 2, 1934, the inventory listing real estate valued at $700 and personal property of the value of $189.60. Arthur Avery is named executor and the estate is to be divided equally among three heirs, Harold, Arthur and Clayton Avery.

The estate of Jacob Schoenholtz of Wyoming township, who suicided Aug. 16 by hanging himself in the barn at his farm at an early hour in the morning, was filed today. Mrs. Ethel Hawbaker, a daughter, is named executrix. The inventory lists real estate valued at $15,000 and personal property of the value of $2,000.

AMERICANS IN AREA WHERE IT APPEARS

Closing of Port By U. S. Navy Holds Them Marooned

Shanghai, Aug. 31—(AP)—Cholera broke out tonight in Shanghai's French concession, where most of the city's Americans live.

The outbreak became known shortly before midnight, after a day in which United States authorities closed the port of Shanghai to all American ships except naval vessels, marooning for the time being some 2,000 Americans who have not been evacuated from the zone of Shanghai Sino-Japanese war.

Meanwhile an unidentified bomber attacked but did not damage the Italian operated steamer Lung Shan, filled with Chinese refugees, and Japanese forces, on sea air and land, opened an offensive 12 miles north of Shanghai which, they said, resulted in the capture of strategic Woosung, its railway station and its forts.

French concession authorities took every measure to halt the spread of the cholera, deadly intestinal disease which yearly takes its toll of underfed Asiatics.

Earlier in the day, with cholera dangers rising from overtaken sanitation facilities and the steady drain on water supplies, the United States Navy cancelled shore leaves and all Chinese hands were ordered off the flagship Augusta.

Reports of the black (bubonic) plague in native areas added to the horrors of war.

The bombing of the Lung Shan created a panic, although no damage was reported.

The ship was bombed near Woosung, north of Shanghai, where the Whangpoo and Yangtze rivers flow together for the embattled city's only waterway — and only avenue of escape — to the sea.

Woosung Captured?

Japanese commanders reported their forces, striking the first blows of an attack in force against the Chinese hosts defending Shanghai, had captured the town of Woosung. A Domei (Japanese) news agency dispatch said the invaders had occupied the Woosung forts.

The forts, China's vital defenses on the lower Whangpoo, had been held by at least one division of Chinese troops despite aerial, naval and artillery bombardments for more than two weeks.

Chinese denied that the Japanese had started an advance from the Woosung area.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, virtual civil and military commander of war-time China, in effect, demanded immediate foreign intervention to end the hostilities.

Chiang's Warning

Chiang warned at Nanking that "Japanese aggression" to establish "a continental empire for herself" is a threat not only to the sovereignty of China but also to "international safety."

The attack on the Italian ship followed by a day the bombing of the United States Dollar liner President Hoover by Chinese planes in the China Sea off the Yangtze estuary.

Chinese officials have accepted responsibility and have offered redress for the attack in which a seaman was killed, other sailors and passengers injured and the ship's hull pierced by shrapnel.

A terrific bombardment, which resounded through the international areas, evidently was the first phase of the developing offensive through the Kiangwan sector, Shanghai's "back door" to the north. Japanese officers said Shanghai's North Station was bombed.

Before the devastating fire of planes and heavy artillery began, the Japanese army and foreign police combined forces to drive 12,000 bewildered Chinese from their homes in the Hongkew and Yangtzepoo districts on Shanghai's north side.

The frightened populace resisted, at first. They fled, however, when Japanese police convinced them they had a choice between flight and death.

Fear World Opinion

Japan's action in warning the native population of an impending attack was believed to have been inspired by sharp reaction abroad against sudden Japanese attacks in which thousands of noncombatant

HUGE POULTRY SHOW RESULTS FROM MERGER

Chicago Exposition Takes on International Status in Oct.

Management of the Chicago Pet and Poultry show, which had been scheduled for fall, has decided to merge with the Midwest Poultry exposition in holding a mammoth poultry show at Chicago October 15 to 19 in the International Amphitheater. As a result of the merger, the entire poultry industry will be linked in the first of a series of annual all-inclusive expositions where breeder, processor, retailer and consumer, as well as the supply and accessory interests, will take part.

For the breeder of purebred poultry the show is planned as an annual nationwide competition in which the awards will carry the same prestige that now goes to prize-winning farm animals in Chicago's annual International Livestock Exposition.

In addition to the extensive competition to be provided for poultry raisers, the show will include contests for poultry packers and distributing agencies. An egg show will be another competitive feature.

Plans are being made to give space to educational displays by the poultry department of the state agricultural colleges, federal government and the state departments of agriculture. These will present the latest findings in scientific production methods. Model kitchens in which practical demonstrations in poultry and egg cookery will be given are special features of interest to home-makers. Mrs. Kathryn Beale Niles, director of foods and nutrition of the Institution of American Poultry Industries, Chicago, heads a committee of experts in this field who will conduct the demonstrations. There will also be daily entertainment features.

LAMOILLE

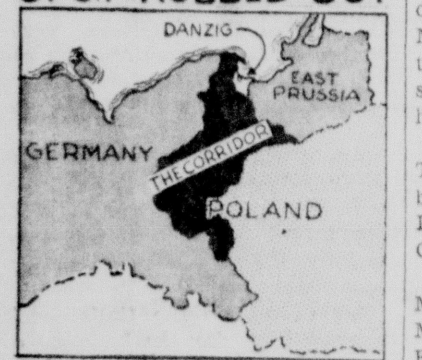

LAMOILLE—A dinner was given by Warren Mercer and Miss Nannie Faber at the Mercer home on Saturday evening in honor of the recent marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Findlay (nee Gwen Mercer) of Ada, Ohio. Other guests present were Mrs. Alma Walker and her daughter Mary Eloise, Mrs. Esther Mercer and three daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Telkamp and family.

Miss Marjorie Littlewood returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Littlewood at Mendota on Sunday in order to take up her school work at Mendota this year. Marjorie spent last year with her grandparents here and attended Lamolille high school.

Miss Dorothy Graves of Moline spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Mae Graves.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Geiger and family were Sunday guests at the home of his mother, Mrs. Carrie Geiger and daughter Marie.

Mrs. Haynes and niece of Dixon called on Mrs. John Peik Sr. on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Haynes

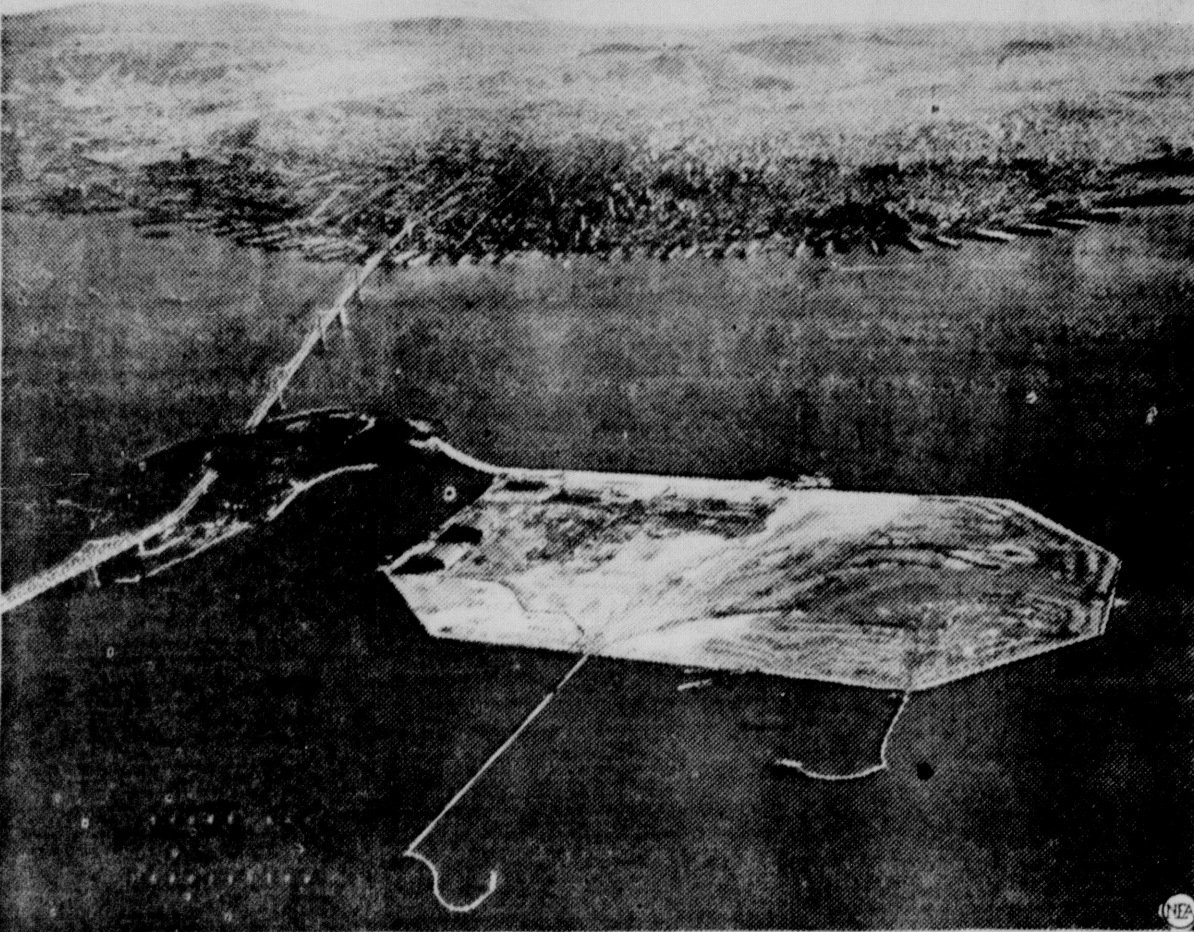

THE close of the World War left 2,000,000 confused citizens in the tiny corridor, Upper Silesia, sandwiched between Germany and Poland, and a very sore spot on the map of Europe. The towns, highly industrialized, were predominantly German, the rural areas were strongly Polish.

The Treaty of Versailles provided a plebiscite in an effort to bring peace. That was in 1921. The election showed 717,122 votes for Germany and 483,514 for Poland. And immediately disorder swept the territory, a force of Polish insurgents going even so far as to attempt setting up a dictatorship. The result was military intervention by the league.

Later the league partitioned the area and Germany and Poland entered into an agreement to accept rule of Upper Silesia by an independent commission for 15 years. Recently that period ended and Germany formally took over German Upper Silesia while Poland claimed Polish Upper Silesia. Thus another sore spot may be removed from the map of Europe. Upper Silesian stamps were issued under the league covenant in 1920 and 1921.

Man-Made Island to Become Golden Gate Airport

Rising from the shoals in the shadow of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge, "Treasure Island," shown in above air view, mile-square, man-made site of the Golden Gate World's Fair in 1939, will become one of the nation's major airports after the close of the exposition. Construction on permanent buildings, an administration building and two hangars is nearing completion. The island was built of sand and silt dredged from the bottom of the bay. In the foreground are two dredges, constantly adding to the island, which now rises 13 feet above the water level. A highway, at center left, connects the island with nearby Yerba Buena Island.

The program committee for the afternoon, Mrs. Gladys Telkamp, Mrs. Margaret Elliott and Mrs. Ella Riley presented a splendid play, "The Mechanical Maid". The members who took part in the play were Mrs. Minnie King, Mrs. Elizabeth Hohertz and Mrs. Florence Rasmussen. The play furnished much merriment and was well given. The refreshments were served from a beautiful decorated table by Mrs. Nettie Williams, chairman and helpers. The next meeting will be on Wednesday, Oct. 6.

is to "pack" the court with additional judges. Attorney General Cummings put the matter up to the judiciary committee. It decided to send a committee to the island to make a first hand investigation and report at the next session.

As chairman of the judiciary committee it fell to Ashurst to name the investigators. Solemnly he appointed the following:

Senator Ed Burke, generalissimo of the fight against the President's court packing bill; Senator Tom Connally, one of the authors of the scathing majority report against the measure; Senators William King, Frederick Van Nuys and Warren Austin, signers of the report.

Tough Spot
Burke accepted his selection with a wry smile. "This certainly puts us in a tough spot," he remarked. "It would be funny if we had to recommend the appointment of additional judges."

"Maybe that's why Ashurst named you," a friend said.

"I wouldn't put it past Henry," Burke laughed. "But he told me he put me on the committee so I would be in line for one of the jobs. I thought that was very nice of him until I learned that they have a habit in Puerto Rico of shooting judges they don't like."

LARGER WHITE CORN ACREAGE SOUGHT HERE

Lee County Growers Told Scarcity of Type Brings Premium

The American Corn Millers' federation of Chicago is starting a drive among farmers of this area to increase the production of white corn. Formerly considerable white corn was grown in Lee and surrounding counties, but more recently many farmers have turned to hybrid varieties because of larger yields. As a result processors of white corn have been required to offer a premium above the market for that variety. Despite the higher prices paid, there still is a scarcity of white corn. Processor-merchants of the Chicago Board of Trade are co-operating in the white corn drive by finding new uses for the corn.

Millers and manufacturers of corn meal, grit, corn flakes, and feeds have greatly increased the demand for white corn the last few years, but there is less white corn in farm cribs today than there has been in several years. The elevator stock of white corn is now at the zero point and the carry-over of white corn is the smallest in years.

White corn brought about 3 cents more a bushel than yellow corn in 1935, while last year the average premium per bushel for white over yellow was around 4½ cents. The demand for white corn has been heavier this year because of improved business conditions which caused millers and manufacturers of corn products to buy in larger quantities than in 1936.

Seek Hybrid Types
Another objective which will prove of interest to farmers is the plan of the American Corn Millers' federation to assist in developing a hybrid white corn of large berry which will produce a better milling yield. Twenty strains of this white hybrid corn are being grown this year at the state college experimental farm, and it is expected some seed will be available for next year's planting.

In this connection it may be interesting to note that the General Foods corporation is building a $1,500,000 plant at Kankakee, Ill., to process white corn. This plant is to be completed early next year and will employ 200 persons.

To Test Sanity of Sculptor-Killer

New York, Aug. 31—(AP)—General Sessions Judge John J. Freschi said a lunacy commission would be appointed to examine Robert Irwin, broad-shouldered sculptor charged with the murder of Veronica Gedeon, an artists model; her mother and a boarder in their home.

The announcement followed argument on a motion to appoint the commission to determine if Irwin were legally sane when the triple slaying was committed on Beekman Hill last Easter Sunday.

Affliction No Handicap

"Feeling fine," Charles Zimmy, remarkable 43-year-old legless swimmer, tells his handlers as he pauses in his non-stop swim down the Hudson from Albany to New York to take a bit of refreshment. Inset, is a close-up of the gallant swimmer, wearing goggles to protect his eyes. Zimmy, whose powerful arms and shoulders make up for his lack of legs in the water, expected to cover the 143 miles in less than seven days.

The month of April was designated as "strawberry moon" by the Natchez Indians.

Visitors to Florida spend between $200,500,000 and $300,000,000 annually in that state.

Grasses Neglected In Researches for Improved Grains

While farmers seed the more productive strains of wheat and other cereals, they generally overlook the point that there probably is as much difference in blue-grasses as there is in wheats. One bluegrass plant may produce several times as much feed as another, and if all the bluegrass plants in a pasture were as good as the best of them, that kind of pasture might well provide feed for more animals for a longer season.

This is roughly the idea back of pasture research undertaken by the federal department of agriculture. P. V. Cardon, in charge of pasture plants for this department, points out that grass breeding has lagged behind while cereals have been improved by selection of desirable single plants and by crossing of varieties to combine the best feature of each.

The grass research program of the department calls for continuing studies of pasture management, fertilizer tests and seeding methods, but it also provides for giving special attention to selecting and breeding better varieties of grass plants, kinds that will add up to a larger total in feed value.

RUNNING TRUE TO FORM

John Roosevelt denies having squirted champagne in the face of the municipal mogul in France or having walloped him with a bouquet.

Our earliest recollection of the Roosevelt dynasty was when one of them was calling various and sundry persons liars. The question of veracity seems to be raised repeatedly as we go down the generations.

We recall only two presidents in whose relationship the question of veracity repeatedly has been raised.

AT $250 PER COPY

Corporations sued by stockholders for restitution of company dollars contributed to the Democratic national committee can reply that they were compelled to give the money by agencies of the federal government.

The publication of the De Luxe Presidential Edition of the Democratic Campaign book, autographed by Mr. Roosevelt, may not have been Jim Farley's idea in the beginning, but he was behind it not only as chairman of the Democratic national committee but as postmaster general.

Representative Snell, Republican minority leader, has placed before Mr. Cummings, the attorney general, a great deal of evidence illustrating the practices of the solicitors; also giving names of corporations sandbagged into buying copies.

Although the Democratic national committee assured the corporations that a hole through the corrupt practices act had been found, many corporations appear not to have taken the advice of their own counsel or, having taken it, still have thought it advisable to do what the solicitors demanded. The law runs against them. It was regarded as bad public policy to permit corporations as such to make donations to the campaign expenses of candidates.

The corporations did not expose themselves to prosecution until there was a conspiracy to force them to do so. If this book business is as illegal as it is infamous, the corporations did not have a willing part in it and can plead that they were the victims of a governmental and party onslaught upon them to get their money.

A good deal of Mr. Snell's evidence, which Mr. Cummings has, reveals that reluctant buyers were told that it would be bad for them if they did not come across, and there are affidavits to prove that it was bad. Governmental agencies followed up the book solicitors, and the persons who did not buy found that they were in hot water.

If some stockholders, suing for restoration of the money used in buying the books, obtain judgment against corporation officers who would have avoided the offense if they thought it safe to do so, Mr. Cummings will find it very difficult not to bring action against the real offenders, the conspirators who put on the heat. A number of his official associates in Washington will not like it, but he will carry a tremendous personal and professional responsibility if he tries to whitewash Mr. Farley's book selling.—Chicago Tribune.

SUSPEND DRIVERS' PRIVILEGES

Judges have been quick to make use of the new statute empowering them to suspend the driving privileges of persons guilty of major traffic offenses. The general assembly failed to pass the drivers' license law, because of a row over which faction of the democratic party would distribute the patronage and wield the wallop, but it did furnish this substitute.

It is a commendable law and the most effective means of handling persons who can be influenced or controlled in no other manner. Nine out of ten persons who run afoul of traffic laws are persons who should be making a living for their families instead of being confined in jails. Many of them can not pay fines and even if they could, the fine would not serve as a protective measure for the public.

Danger of losing the right to drive is the thing most drivers fear more than fines. The fact that such a privilege may be lost will have a healthful influence.

TRY YOUR EYES

On clear evenings when there is no moon amateur astronomers may enjoy testing their acuteness of vision by looking for the great galaxy in Andromeda. Many other objects in the sky are more spectacular than Andromeda's galaxy, but it has been said that this is the farthest object visible to the unaided eye.

If we have made no error in our rough figuring, the thing is, in round numbers, 4,000,000,000,000,000 miles away. As astronomers would state it, the galaxy is 680,000 "light years" distant. That is, it takes light that long to get from there to here.

We live on our earth amid a cluster of stars which is traveling somewhere in space much as shot travels in a cluster after leaving a shotgun. If our earth were transported to the galaxy seen through the constellation of Andromeda, we should see stars all around us as we see them here, and probably a milky way. Far off we might be able to see, without a telescope, a faint, hazy patch which would be the cluster of stars in which we now live.

No money can be made by looking at this cluster. But if one can pick out the dull, hazy patch in the northeast sky soon after dark, he can say he has seen the most distant object visible to the unaided human eye. It might be remarked that the center of a large field, away from city lights and haze, is the best place to make the test. A sky map will help one locate the galaxy.

NOT THE COMPLIMENT IT USED TO BE

There is something different about the atmosphere in which Senator Black of Alabama has been nominated by President Roosevelt for the supreme court of the United States. The nomination doesn't appear to be the compliment it used to be.

Prior messages and letters by President Roosevelt indicate that so far as he is concerned future members of the supreme court will only O. K. the objectives of the executive and the details arranged by the legislative department of the government. The great post of justice of the supreme court thereby is being transformed into a Punch and Judy show.

We may regard the decisions as already made. "I am the supreme court," said Hitler.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

Two brothers were city employees and were assigned to the task of painting the lamp posts along a new boulevard. Joe was to do the lamp posts on one side of the street, Jim those on the other. There were, of course, the same number on each side. On the morning they were to start work Joe arrived ahead of time and had three posts on one side done when Jim appeared and said, "Hey, you're on the wrong side of the street; this is my side." So Joe moved over to the other side and started in again. Some time later Jim finished his side and went over to Joe's side and did three of the posts there. Then, being a faster worker than Joe, he decided to help Joe so he did three more. How many more posts did Jim paint than Joe?

1. Better be cautious on this because as D. G. H. If the dog thinks, it is on a very low plane—he does not invent or plan for the future. That's the difference.

FARR EARNS NEW RESPECT AS BATTLER

Brown Bomber Wins But Can't Solve Foe's Style

New York, Aug. 31—(AP)—Joe Louis still has his heavyweight championship, and he also has a new and round-eyed respect for Tommy Farr.

So have 37,000 fans who sat in the lights and shadows of Yankee Stadium last night and watched the old carnival fighter, half-blinded at the finish, jab and jummy it out with the alleged Negro thunderbolt for 15 rounds.

Although they are without doubt hollering "robbery" around Fleet street today, and the hotheads in the Mall are assuring each other that a Britisher hasn't a chance of winning anything in America, there wasn't much doubt the Brown ex-Bomber deserved the decision.

He did, as badly scared as he looked in spots. In fact, he looked as dumb as a dime detective most of the evening and he took a lot of fancy punches, first and last. He never learned how to fight Farr. Yet he was the better man, and Tommypanny Tommy will be the last to deny it. Tommy didn't deny it last night ever as he sat and tried to look out between battered eyes and listened to the "rasberries" that echoed and re-echoed across Yankee Stadium after Louis had been declared the winner.

Proved His Courage
Farr is a big man in the boxing game today, even though a loser. He can stay around—as he plans to do—and make himself a lot of money. He put up a great fight against a foe who was expected to knock him spraddle-legged, and when his best wasn't good enough he accepted defeat like a soldier.

At that, it must have been a thrill for the hard-boiled battler from the desolate mining district of Wales. No fighter who ever came to these shores received a surrier reception. He was tabbed strictly a second-rater, a fighter who didn't belong in the same ring with the assassin, Louis. He must have felt good last night when, after he had given his stout-hearted best for 15 rounds, he groped his way toward the dressing room through thousands of Americans demanding the blood of referee, judges and anybody else who thought Louis had won.

But it didn't fool Tommy. He knew he had tried and failed. He wasn't sore at anybody. The fight-writers expected him to rail at the decision, and to castigate them for the things they had written about him. Tommy didn't do either. He looked out between eyes that were swollen almost shut and said simply: "I gave them a good go, didn't I?" Tommy, then and there, made himself a lot of friends.

Gave Tommy Two Rounds
Referee Arthur Donovan credited the Welshman with only two rounds, just to show you how differently they can see things. This observer thought Farr won five rounds that Louis won eight, and that there wasn't anything in the other two. The spectators from 10 rows on back thought Farr won the championship, by a country mile. It just goes to show.

This much is certain: the old carnival scrapper put up a whale of a fight; he carried the carnage to Louis most of the way, and he undoubtedly would have won by a knockout if he had possessed a right-hand wallop to compare with Schmeling's.

It's also true that Louis, though he was puzzled at Tommy's style all the way and was hurt and badly frightened a couple of times when Farr clouted him, had what it took to collect himself and jab out a victory with his left.

There wasn't a knockdown. In the fifth round, after the crowd had done some booing, Louis whipped over a quick right to the jaw and followed with a left that staggered Farr, but the bell saved the Welshman from serious trouble. Those were perhaps the most damaging blows of the fight. Farr hurt Louis with several rights, but the Negro never looked like he was going down.

Cuts Rothered Welshman
In the last two or three rounds, long jagged cuts under Farr's eyes were spouting blood and he couldn't line up his sights properly. He couldn't locate Louis with the stabbing left that had piled up so many points in the early rounds, and he was trying desperately to land a telling right. That was when Joe piled up his decisive margin. "I couldn't see him," said Farr plaintively, in the dressing room. His face looked like it had been caught in a threshing machine. The middle finger of his right hand was broken and swollen, but he wouldn't admit even a nickel's worth.

Louis naturally was disappointed with his showing. He had to admit Farr was a tough hombre to

750 HORSES ARE EXPECTED IN 31 DAY RACE MEET

Reconditioned Fairmount Park Draws Famous Steeds

Collinsville, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—Many of America's leading race-tracks will be represented at the 31-day race meeting which opens Sept. 4 at reconditioned Fairmount park.

More than 750 horses are expected to take part in the meet, the first to be held at Fairmount since 1935. Approximately 300 entries already have arrived.

Racing Secretary Dick Leigh said today shipments would arrive this week from Thistle Downs, Dade Park, Lincoln Fields, Saratoga and Narragansett.

Equipment was recently installed and tested for deciding a photo or camera finish. The track, barns and club house have been completely renovated for the fall season.

Zoic, 4-year-old sprinter from the H. E. Enger stable, is entered and probably will be a starter in the $1000 Inaugural Handicap. Winner in nine out of 18 starts this season, experts assert the horse will be one of the outstanding entries in the meet.

Zekiel Another Entry
Zekiel, an 8-year-old and one of the leading sprinters several years ago, will be another entry. The horse is now owned by N. Tiller of Washington, who will bring 11 other horses here.

J. A. Best of Memphis will have three horses from Lincoln Fields entered. Vic Gallo of New Orleans also will bring three entries from the same track.

The B. Hernandez of 16 horses, one of the most prominent in the country, arrived yesterday. Arrivals from Chicago included 10 entries of E. E. Russell. Six more stables are expected to arrive from Lincoln Fields, including that of C. W. Pearshall, in charge of Tommy Root, the ex-jockey.

The jockey colony now numbers 25, including R. Morris, with the B. Hernandez stable of 16 horses; W. Gonzales, T. Reno, J. Frederick, R. G. Cooper and R. Cramer.

Leech Cup Match Feature Of Rifle Matches In Ohio

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 31—(AP)—The Leech cup match and the Camp Perry instructors' trophy competition were the features of the national rifle matches here today.

A group of marksmen also fired the ranges again today to decide ties in the U. S. coast guard match which had 1,834 entries yesterday. Out of 1,800 competitors in the marine corps match the winner was Arthur P. Miner of the U. S. coast guard cutter Cayuga of Boston who had a perfect 100 score.

Winners of the other matches included:

Western trophy—M. Grosskopf, Marion, Wis.

Small bore life members—William Schweitzer, Hillsdale, N. J.; first, A. E. Crockett, Logansport, Ind.; second, Emory Hancock, Monmouth, Ill. third.

Labor Day Speedboat Regatta to Excel All Previous Races Here

Dorothy Larson Will Defend Title Won Past Two Years

Edward Graybill of Lowell park has arranged an excellent program of activity at the park Sunday and Monday afternoons of next week for the entertainment of Labor Day picnickers. About 20 of the middle west's outstanding speed boat racers have already signified their intention of competing at the spectacular races on Rock river in front of the park beach Sunday afternoon, starting promptly at 2 o'clock.

Among these will be Miss Dorothy Larson of Rockford, twice winner of the park board trophy cup, who will defend her title in an effort to secure permanent ownership of the coveted prize. Miss Larson is one of the few and most daring of outboard motor racers who recently won the Wisconsin state class C championship.

Speedy Drivers
Other out of town entries include such drivers as Emory Err of St. Charles, Ham Gromer of Elgin, Harry Chamberlain, Sterling, Robert Shanhouse, Rockford, Pete Seyl, Chicago, Harry Mix, Oak Park, Red McGinnis, Sterling and Frank McClanahan of this city. H. W. Pennington, Herb Johnson, Don Meyers, William Johnson and Everett Miller, all of Rockford have indicated that they will be in competition with their racing craft. The races will be run under the regular National Outboard association rules.

Three trophies and several other prizes will be sought in the contests. The Park Board trophy now in possession of Miss Dorothy Larson of Rockford will be sought for by several of the fastest entries. Should Miss Larson win the event, the cup becomes her permanent property.

W. E. Trein and the Beier bakery have donated beautiful trophy cups for other events on the program and all of these will be on exhibition within a few days. The Park Board and Trein cups will be on display in the show window at the Trein jewelry store and the Beier cup in the display window at the retail store on Hennepin avenue.

Because of other racing dates, Promoter Ed Graybill found it necessary to book the events on Sunday afternoon when the program will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

Horseshoe Contest
Monday afternoon, horse shoe pitchers from within a 50 mile radius are expected to demonstrate their ability on the courts in the east end of the park. For the winners of these events, Promoter Graybill has posted three attractive cash prizes.

Entrants will be required to furnish their own shoes and will report to Felix Benson, clerk of the tournament before 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the courts. Workmen will begin grading and leveling the courts tomorrow, to have them in first class condition and in readiness for the tournament which will start promptly at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, and which should attract a huge crowd. Several entries have already been received and it is expected that there will be about 50 contestants on hand for this occasion.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—The championship of the Quincy Young Men's Christian Association's sixth annual marathon swim was in possession today of George Harmon of Tulsa, Okla.

Harmon swam the 10 miles between LaGrange, Mo., and Quincy yesterday in two hours, 16 minutes finishing a minute ahead and one-half ahead of Rene Chouteau of St. Louis. Dan Hochstadt, St. Louis, was third, Ray Crawley of Tulsa, fourth and Bob Wise of Moline, Ill. fifth.

Miss Bernice Trine of Quincy, only woman in the field of 24, finished nineteenth.

Here and There In Sports World

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Aug. 31—(AP)—Boys, paste this one in your Kelleys.

Fight experting is gone forever... Tommy Farr, the surprising gent from Wales, saw to that... that big crash you heard along about 10:15 p. m. was the W. K. limb going down with all the experts aboard... The scribes are a shame-faced lot today... Some of the out-of-towners are afraid to go home... Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, rubbed it in hard... "All them experts," he snorted contemptuously, "should of stood in bed"... Anyway, Farr gave 'em a licking even if he couldn't quite get past Joe Louis... So we hold the telegrams of ridicule in one hand and reach for the headache powders with the other.

Louis looked bad... For a while the fans told themselves he merely was holding back for an opening... But as the fight went on, Farr disproved this... Joe couldn't find an opening against the teasing, bobbing, weaving style of the Britisher... Louis admitted after the fight he was able to land only one good punch and it took him 13 rounds to do this... It was the first of Joe's major bouts in which somebody didn't get knocked down... Max Schmeling again saw "some-thing."

Tommy Farr wore the Welsh dragon on the back of his bath robe... If Farr had had any punch at all he would have had Louis on the deck in the eighth... This corner scored seven rounds for Farr and eight for Louis... Referee Arthur Donovan gave Louis 13 of the 15... He didn't credit Farr with a heat until the ninth... Bill Farnsworth, vice-president of the 20th Century, came in wearing green glasses so he couldn't see the empty seats, but took 'em off when the crowd began to gather... Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, sat in the press box and rooted for Farr.

Lee County Entrant In Festival S-Ball Tournney Unnamed

On the closing date for entries in five divisions of softball to be played at the Illinois Farm Sports Festival, Urbana, Sept. 3-4, 114 teams were officially enrolled, says the Illinois Agricultural Association. This is almost twice the number that vied for titles last year. As yet owing to a three-way tie for first place in Lee county, the Lee county team has not yet been named.

A schedule of games reveals that 108 games will be played to decide the five state championships in county league, county all-star, boys 4-H club girls, and adults' over 35 years divisions.

First games of the five tournaments will be called promptly at 9:00 A. M., September 3. Schedules have been sent to each manager and teams that fail to appear ready for play within 15 minutes after game time will automatically forfeit the game. The warning is issued by the State Festival Committee on softball.

GIANTS SPURT INTO LEAGUE LEAD MONDAY

Terry, Ott, Hubbell Paved Way For Giants' Win

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Old John McGraw, who's probably managing a pennant winner in whatever Valhalla baseball men go to, looked down on his New York Giants today and found the view well-nigh perfect.

They were leading the National League—by a margin this as a dime, but leading, nevertheless—and a trio of McGraw men showed the way.

First, there was Bill Terry, who can take a bow himself for the way he's handled the reins since Old Jawn gave them up in '32. Then there was master Melvin Ott, the veteran youngster of the National League, the little fellow who lifts up his front foot, swings at those high hard ones, and deposits them where they do the most good—for his side.

And last, but far from least, there was King Carl Hubbell, the master of the screwball.

These three, and the fight that was McGraw's heritage to the Giants, made it appear today that the Giants are on the way to their second straight pennant, their third under Terry. At the moment, here were the statistics on the two clubs still in the red-hot pennant parade:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Giants	71	46	.607
Cubs	72	47	.605

Remarkable Collection
They're a remarkable collection, these Giants. They don't play great ball; sometimes they don't even play good ball. But they're a money team, and they play those breaks for it they're worth.

Right now, such other powers as the Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates appear to be falling apart quietly. So the Giants, putting together timely hitting and good pitching, are making the most of it.

Yesterday, with the Cubs idle, the Giants had a chance to go into the lead. They turned the trick with a 4-3 decision over the Cincinnati Reds, and that's where McGraw's boys came in.

Of course, they had a lot of help from Terry's new Terriers. But Ott, pulled in from the outfield and now playing as good a third base as any in the league, belted his 28th homer with a mate aboard.

Things were fine until rookie Cliff Melton and relief finger Dick Coffman couldn't stand prosperity in the seventh. Then Terry came up out of the dugout with a rush and waved wildly for Hubbell. Old Spareparts sauntered in—in the memory of the oldest resident he's never been known to hurry—and had the Reds begging for mercy. Six men went down in order, before he gave up a dinky little scratch single and then retired the last batter.

The Giants' game was the only one in the National League. In the American League, the Detroit Tigers ripped the Yankees, 5-4, with Hank Greenberg belting No. 30 and roundhouse Rudy York poking No. 28, and the Cleveland Indians pushed over a ninth inning run for a 7-6 win over the Senators.

BUDGE AND MAKO OVERTHROWN BY GERMAN NETMEN

Stunning Win Puts Doubles Title In Foreign Hands

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 31—(AP)—The men's national doubles tennis title is in foreign hands today for the first time in 18 years as a result of a stunning straight set victory by Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Henner Henkel of Germany over Don Budge and Gene Mako, the Californian defending champions.

The Germans required only 70 minutes yesterday to gain their first triumph in three starts against the Americans this season, by scores of 6-4, 7-5, 6-4.

Four other champions also were overthrown in yesterday's sultry afternoon at Longwood. Mrs. Susan Palfrey Pabyan, who shared four previous women's titles, teamed with Alice Marble, the national singles titlist, to set the example by defeating Mrs. John Van Ryn and Carolin Babcock, last year's winners, 7-5, 6-4.

Surrendered Crown
Miss Marble and Mako surrendered their mixed doubles crowns, when they lost 6-0, 6-3, to Mrs. Dorothy Aldrus, New York, and Jiro Yamagishi, Japan, in a quarter-final round.

William J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, the 1906 singles champion, and his namesake lost their father-son titles to R. N. and Lard Watt of Montreal, 6-4, 7-5. The senior Clothier and Dwight P. Davis of Washington, the donor of the internationalist tennis trophy, lost their veteran's doubles titles to L. W. Baker, Washington, and J. G. McKay, Miami, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

EDUCATION CAN HELP FARMERS WITH PROBLEMS

Henry Ford Says School System Should Be Revamped

America's farm problem, including the tremendous losses caused by erosion, must be solved in the common grade school, according to Henry Ford, who lays the country's agricultural difficulties at the door of the educational system.

"If you are interested in solving the farm problem," he said in an interview just published in the Country Home Magazine, "go first to your common schools. Demand that they be made practical. Stop this costly practice of hiring girls just out of colleges, with no practical experience, as teachers. Insist that the teachers be experienced in the ways and jobs of life.

"When school boards and parents say they cannot afford to educate their children in practical tasks, I answer by saying they cannot afford not to do it. The cost of having a lot of untrained adults around is far more than it would have cost to train those adults when they were children. Washed out land and farmed out land are a reflection of the quality of local schools. There never has and never will be any substitute for individual competence. When individualism, by which I mean personal competence, dies, America will die."

Mr. Ford, as the worlds leading exponent of mass production in industry, is strongly opposed, he said, to standardization of people.

School Not a Factory

"A school is not a factory for turning out identical things," he said. "Every normal child has ability along certain lines greater than his ability along other lines. The business of the school is to hunt for these special skills or inclinations and develop them. The earlier a child is given a chance to work at many kinds of tasks, the sooner will he discover his own special bent, and therefore, begin to develop his usefulness and win his happiness. A happy and prosperous nation is one in which the largest possible number of persons has found each his own work, and is doing it."

In discussing the schools which he himself has established in Dearborn and at several other points, Mr. Ford described all his efforts in education as the application of common sense to the early years of life.

"What we are trying to do," he explained, "is to develop non-failure schools, which means more than non-failure in the classrooms. It is non-failure in life that we are aiming at. If the farmer knows how to farm, and also how to do other occasional work, he is not so likely to find himself hard up. If the mechanic knows his machines, and also how to grow his food, he has insurance against trouble, and the kind of insurance we all need most is that which comes from individual skill and the ability and opportunity to do more than one thing well, plus energy, of course."

"That kind of insurance must be written and underwritten by and in the common schools. And remember the lowest grades are most important, because they are the only grades attended by all boys and girls."

Cheese Production In State to Total 20 Million Pounds

Cheese manufacture in Illinois has shown a marked increase in the last few years and is expected to reach a total of almost 20,000,000 pounds in 1937. Ranking fourth in the manufacture of American cheddar with 16,923,000 pounds in 1935, Illinois climbed from 13,030,000 pounds in 1934 and an average of 6,882,000 for the period 1929 to 1933.

B. F. Whitmore, extension specialist in dairy manufactures of the Illinois college of agriculture, says there has been an improvement in the quality of the Illinois product as a result of co-operation of the Illinois Cheese Manufacturers' association with the extension service.

This campaign for improved quality has taken the form of a contest in which 14 factories, responsible for nearly half of the state's cheese production, were graded by Whitmore earlier in the year. Later the plants will be scored again and prizes awarded to those making the highest score and most improvement. One improvement noted is the use of pasteurized milk with the bulk of production centering in well-established plants. Increased manufacture of cheese provides dairy farmers with an added outlet for surplus milk supplies.

The difficulties in strato-plane design have involved greatly increased cost of construction, together with development of engines to function efficiently at various altitudes, particularly above the 30,000-foot mark.

Farmers Meet Here Tonight to Discuss Locker Plant Plan

Another meeting of farm leaders and their wives of this area is scheduled tonight in Dixon to ascertain sentiment concerning the suggestion that a cold storage locker plant be established in this city. Some farmers have been urging a plant for Dixon ever since the Amboy plant was opened last winter. The Amboy plant, operated by the Farm Bureau, has been successful in renting all its lockers, and locker renters have made considerable saving this year on meats which were stored during a period when prices were much lower than today. Some advocates of the plant for Dixon believe local sportsmen would be locker clients since the plant would offer ideal facilities for the storage of game.

Indict Man For Police Killing

Boston, Aug. 31—(AP)—A Middlesex county grand jury has indicted Edward P. Simpson, 39, for the murder of Patrolman Henry G. Bell, of Newton, and for assault with intent to murder Patrolman Lawrence E. Murphy, also of Newton.

It was learned at the district attorney's office, shortly after the indictments had been returned, that X-ray pictures had been made of a bullet lodged in Simpson's throat.

At the same time state and Boston police began a "mass roundup" of criminals, who Detective Sergeant James V. Crowley said, Simpson named as being implicated with him in holdups before he allegedly killed Bell and wounded Murphy more than a week ago.

Murphy, warned by another policeman that Bell was being kidnapped by a motorist who forced him into his automobile, had almost overtaken the machine when an exchange of shots began. The gunman, Bishop said, killed Bell before turning his pistol on Murphy.

FLOOD REMINDER

Golconda, Ill. —(AP)—A fourth "high water" marker was cemented in a warehouse wall here today as Golconda completed its most recent reminder of the Ohio river's fury. The first was placed in 1883, the second a few inches higher in 1884, and the third a foot higher still in 1913. The new marker, representing 1937, is seven feet above the 1913 line.

WARE HARDWARE STORE MODERN

Proprietor Celebrating 38 Years Of Activity in Store

On April 1st, 1899 a young man entered into the employ of H. U. Bardwell, a hardware merchant of Dixon. Approximately ten years later, this young man by the name of W. H. "Will" Ware took over the store in partnership with A. C. Moeller. Moeller had charge of the implement division while Will handled the general hardware. That partnership lasted for eight years and then the firm of W. H. Ware came into existence. It has prospered and flourished in the same location, 211 First St. since that time.

Today, on the eve of an event celebrating the opening of the modernized store, this hardware store is one of the most progressive and prominent in northern Illinois.

The store's modern motif simplifies purchasing tremendously. A series of side wall cases, brightly illuminated and clearly lettered enable the purchaser to find the article which he desires with the maximum of ease. These cases are lettered with ivory letters on the light oak finish. Whether one wants Maytags, electrical supplies, modern gifts, enamelware, house or aluminum ware, cleaning goods, stoves, ranges, Keltinator, paints, enamels, varnishes, garden or mechanics tools, they are all easily located by the system of lettering.

The background of the cases is finished with an attractive natural crash which harmonizes with the over-all color of the ivory walls.

In the center are to be found attractive displays of glassware, chinaware, lamps, stoves, general utility hardware and all sorts of velocipedes.

Mr. Ware has been the local agent for Maytag washing machines ever since that famous washer came on the market. For the past five years he has also been the local distributor for Keltinator refrigerators. The BPS paint department is one of the most complete of its kind in Dixon. Everything in the line of paints, varnishes and enamels are available. W. H. Ware has been local agent for the Patterson-Sargent Co. for the past six years.

Now in the employ of "Will" are the following: Lester Hinkle, electrical appliances and stokers; Frank Ware, implement department; Mrs. Ruth Wolfe, household and kitchen appliance sales and purchases; Ira Ware and Stanley Bigert, appliance service department; Tommy Humlin, harness maker, and Olive McClanahan, bookkeeper.

MT. MORRIS

By Pauline Yoe

Mt. Morris.—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Schrock of Dixon announce the marriage of their daughter, Ethelyn B. to Norman E. Jewett, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Jewett of Amboy. The Rev. Mr. George D. Neilson, pastor of Grace Evangelical church, read the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents at 8 A. M. Sunday, August 15.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Neher of Mt. Morris. The bride and her attendants were attired in navy blue frocks with matching accessories and wore corsage bouquets of gardenias. The bride's mother watched the ceremony in a dubonnett sheer frock while the bridegroom's mother wore navy blue with white accessories. Both wore shoulder corsages of roses and chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony the wedding party and the sixteen guests breakfasted at the Rice Tea Rooms where garden flowers were used to decorate the tables. Immediately after the breakfast the young couple left by motor for Chicago.

The new Mrs. Jewett is employed at the L. J. Welch Insurance agency in Dixon and Mr. Jewett, who has resided in Mount Morris for the past four years, is the proprietor of a barber shop. As soon as suitable living quarters can be obtained Mr. Jewett will bring his bride here to live.

When Miss Jean Lenox of Dixon and Binkley Mades of Polo were married on Tuesday afternoon in the Christian church in Dixon, Roy Allen served as an usher and John Yeakel attended Mr. Mades as best man. It will be remembered that the circumstances were reversed in June when Mr. Yeakel was married to the former Miss Ethel Allen, for at that time Mr. Mades was best man for Mr. Yeakel.

The gardens of the William Prughs was again the rendezvous for a merry party of early risers, when Mrs. Charles Cox entertained in compliment to Mrs. William Sinclair, a guest in the James Watt home. The party also commemorated the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Cox and two of her guests, Mrs. C. J. Price and Mrs. Forrest Kable, and although it was too early in the morning for birthday cake and candles, doughnuts and coffee and all the breakfast specialties more than made up for their absence. Others present to enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Cox were the Meses, Donald Clark, Harold Ross, William Prugh, Frank Horton, Arthur Barre, Louis Finch, Paul Yoe, Nelson Bruner, G. Sanderson, Eleanor Wellhausen, James Watt, Pridmore Prugh and Howard Bronson.

Mrs. Dale Lizer entertained a number of friends for luncheon on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jern entertained friends for dinner on Monday evening at their home on Center street. Present were Mrs. Elizabeth Emmert of McPherson, Kas., who is visiting here this week, Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Brady and children Morris and Ruth of Moran, Kan., Mrs. Ella Allen of Oregon, Kan., Lanah Newcomer and Mrs. Pearl Kable.

The members of the Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Tice on Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the Epworth League of Lena and their pastor, Rev. E. Lester Stanton will conduct the devotional service at the Epworth League meeting in the church on Sunday evening. Before the meeting the young folks will enjoy a picnic supper together at the Pines.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jern were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kable on Sunday. Following dinner in Rockford the two couples attended the theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Long are announcing the approaching marriage of their young daughter, Roberta, to Earl Gabrielson of Rockford, son of Mrs. E. Gabrielson of Humboldt, Iowa. The ceremony which will be read in the Church of the Brethren on the afternoon of September 18, culminates a romance which began back in student days when Miss Long and Mr. Gabrielson were classmates at Cornell college in Mt. Vernon, Ia.

Honoring the bride elect, the Meses Dorothy Anderson and Hazel Park with Mrs. Chester Newburg gave a surprise shower party for her last evening at the Anderson home on Emily street. Hanging from a large umbrella Miss Long found gift cards directing her to the hiding places of the many gifts. A yellow and green color scheme was used with garden flowers to decorate the table for the luncheon served to the guests after the opening of the presents. Friends who were present to wish the bride-to-be much future happiness were, her mother, Mrs. Harvey Long, Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mrs. Fred Park, Miss Ruth Coffman of Polo, the Meses Mary and Elizabeth Gilbertson, guests in the Jark home, and Miss Ruth Niman.

Following the regular meeting of the Eastern Star on Monday evening, Mrs. Olive Rohleder was complimented with a surprise reception. Mrs. Rohleder, who was recently appointed by the Worthy Grand Matron, Bertha M. Eagle, to membership on the eligibility committee of the Grand chapter, was the recipient of many gifts and several bouquets of flowers.

Mrs. Roscoe Remington came from Chicago to be present for the reception and a large number of friends from nearby chapters made the trip to Mt. Morris for the evening.

Miss Jean Tidrick of Chamberlain, S. D., who was the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bronson, last week, and Mrs. William Sinclair, who has spent the summer in the James Watt home, were guests of honor at two parties Friday.

Mrs. Harold Ross gave a luncheon party for them in the afternoon at which the Mesdames Howard Bronson, Charles Cox, Eleanor Wellhausen, James Watt, Frank Horton, Pridmore Prugh, Paul Yoe, Frank Horton, Gerald Sanderson, Ira Hendrickson, and Miss Rachel Ross were present. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Prugh, Mrs. Bronson, Mrs. Sinclair and Miss Tidrick.

Mrs. Sinclair and Miss Tidrick shared honors in the evening when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kable gave a dinner party for them. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bronson, Mr. and Mrs. James Watt, Mrs. Eleanor Wellhausen and Mrs. Donovan Mills were other guests.

Mrs. Nellie Helm of Washington, D. C. and Mrs. J. W. Prager of East Liverpool, O., are guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Mills. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Young drove to Mt. Morris from St. Charles to spend the day.

Mrs. Helm and Mrs. Prager will leave today for Dallas, Tex., where they will visit other relatives.

Mrs. Chester Newburg entertained at a supper party in her Rockford home Tuesday evening. The Meses Elizabeth and Mary Gilbertson of Lincoln, Neb., who are visiting in the Fred Park home, were guests of honor as was Miss Ruth Niman who is home this week vacationing from her duties at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago. Others at the party were Miss Roberta Long, Miss Dorothy Anderson and Miss Hazel Park. Following supper the girls went to the theater.

An unusual idea was used Monday evening, when Miss Irene Priller invited a group of young ladies for a surprise dinner party in honor of Mrs. Lloyd Armbruster nee Marie McCready.

A large silver sprinkling can set in a nest of ferns, and tied with a pink bow was used as the centerpiece while small replicas were used as favors at the place of each guest. These symbolically refreshed the garden of memories for the young bride who was given a floor lamp and a card table as a gift from her friends. Those who were present were Lois Bruner, Marian McNett, Evon Few, Jean Abramson, Denelda Parkinson, Lou Cartha Jones and the Mesdames Jack Wallace, Arnold Blake and Cletus Walker.

There was no cause for alarm at the home of Miss Lilly Womack Wednesday evening, nor was the party so dull that the guests had gone to sleep. It was just another clever idea for a miscellaneous shower, this one for Miss Gladys Rodeffer who is to be a September bride. Mrs. Clark Williams and Miss Myrtle Allen were assisting hostesses.

Alarm clocks were set to ring periodically, and these were hidden with gifts about the room. As each alarm sounded it was a signal for Miss Rodeffer to locate it and open the gift which was by its side. Needless to say much merriment resulted for the guests who were the Meses Aossie Vetrovec, Bertha Vetter, Lavonne Armbruster, Beth Vetrovec, Luella McKinley, Julia Pieper, Elsie Klepper, Virginia Gloss, Mildred Davis, Helen Tice, and the Mesdames John Yeakel, Walter Schelling, George Beard, Walter Weller, Ira Rodeffer and Ira Womack.

Mrs. Ralph Koper carried out a Japanese motif when she entertained guests for dinner on Tuesday evening for Miss Rodeffer. The guests, who were Miss Irma Armbruster, Miss Myrtle Allen and Miss Zelda Stengel presented the bride-to-be with a floor lamp for her new home.

Alan Thomas was 3 years old Wednesday and to celebrate the occasion his mother invited a number of his friends for a party. Those who were present at this merry gathering were his sister, Nancy, his cousin, Brent Helland, and Donna Lorraine Fleer, Donald Lavern Fleer, Johnny Prugh, Sue Coffman, Tommy Tomes, Tommy Small and Dickie Sharer.

Mrs. Gerald Huffman, Miss Hazel Kimmel and Miss Grace Ritson met at the home of Miss Dorothy Vanston Tuesday evening to discuss plans for the first fall meeting of the Mt. Morris Business and Professional Women's club. A dinner meeting will be held at the Pyper Cafe on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock at which time details will be worked out for the meetings in September. The charter will be left open until October but those wishing to become members may sign Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Edson was hostess to Mrs. Anna Vastine, who is a guest in the Elmer Snowberger home. Mrs. Dale Lizer and Mrs. Boyd Stouffer at a dinner party in the Coffee Shoppe in Dixon on Tuesday evening. Before dining the ladies drove to Prairieville where they called on Mrs. Dorothy Smith. The late evening was spent at the theater in Dixon.

TOWNS FIGHTING FOR COUNTY SEAT NOW MOUND CITY

Mound City, Ill., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Two towns fighting for the Pulaski county seat Mound City wants to retain learned today they may expect a decision on their petitions early in September.

The battle is an aftermath of the January flood, when 15 feet of water poured through here and caused approximately $25,000 damages to county buildings and records.

Judge Loren H. Boyd must rule on the petition either of Olmstead or of Mounds as only one may be presented to voters at an election. Backers of the move to Olmstead said they had options on land for the county buildings and that sale of surplus lots would pay the county's $105,000 indebtedness.

The Mounds petition, claiming a better location for the county seat, was filed two days after Olmstead.

Mound City has filed objections to both petitions and Mounds has filed seven objections to the Olmstead petition. Various technical errors and charges that signatures were obtained by false representation are listed. Three clerks are making a check of the petitions. Meanwhile a proposed $20,000 public works administration project to rehabilitate the damaged county buildings at Mound City was held in abeyance.

School Teacher Has $115 Taxi Journey

Pittsfield, Ill., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Tired but happy Mrs. Edith Royalty was back home today after a 2,300 mile taxi trip to Annapolis, Md. The fare was $115.

"I had a wonderful time," Mrs. Royalty, a Pike county school teacher, said as she stepped from the cab in front of her home here last night.

George Siefers, president of the company, drove the cab himself because "I've been wanting a vacation all summer."

"Do you mind if I take my wife along?" Siefers asked his "chief fare" at the start of the trip last Monday.

"Not at all," Mrs. Royalty replied.

So the Siefers, Mrs. Royalty and her son, Bryce, set out in a new sedan. After stopping at Cleveland, Gettysburg, Pa., and Washington, D. C., the party drove to Annapolis where Mrs. Royalty picked up her son, Bryce, a Naval Academy student. The five returned to Pittsfield after visiting at Middletown, Pa., and Gettysburg, Ohio.

Mrs. Royalty said she decided on the taxi jaunt because "I thought this was the safest way."

Corn Crop Reported Making Fine Growth Throughout Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—The Illinois corn crop is making "fine progress" with about 68 per cent in the dough or hard dough stage, the state and federal departments of agriculture announced today in the weekly crop report.

"Soil moisture in the more favored areas is sufficient to mature the crop," said J. H. Jacobson, agricultural statistician.

"With a reasonably late frost, production should be the best in several years. Some new corn is being fed, but oats and low grading wheat still constitute a large portion of the grain ration."

"Soybeans are rated good to excellent throughout the state with generally heavy stands and rank growth."

Jacobson said plowing for wheat is from 54 to 60 per cent completed in the important southern counties.

Youth League and Farmers Victims Of Soviet Purge

Moscow, Aug. 31—(AP)—The Soviet government's purge of "enemies of the Communist regime" has reached into the Young Communist league and the collective farming setup.

High ranking officials of the Young Communist organization were shaken up on charges of corrupting the younger generation in drinking parties and permitting "enemies" to spread through the league.

Death sentences were handed down for seven confessed "rightist traitors" in agriculture, one of them a woman, for alleged plotting to wreck collective farming.

Death was demanded for 13 men in Azov, Black Sea province, and for 11 in Georgia for "ruining stock breeding industries" in the regions.

Teacher's House Goes Bit by Bit

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A Calexico, Calif., school teacher told the sheriff's office she left her three-room furnished house at nearby Imperial beach intact two months ago. Then furniture disappeared. The doors, then the windows and walls followed.

"The front porch now is in the process of removal," the sheriff's report stated.

According to official findings pilot errors are a major cause of airplane accidents.

CHILDREN NEED ATTENTION FOR SCHOOL OPENING

Extension Specialist in Health Offers Suggestions to Parents

Preparation for school days ahead requires more than buying a red dinner pail and a pencil box, says Miss Freda Al Pejerson, extension specialist in health and nutrition, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

For the first-grader, the main point is becoming accustomed to new playmates, a new friend—the teacher, and a new routine.

Adopt a happy attitude in telling the child about school, it is suggested. The child should be encouraged to look upon his teacher as a likeable person who wants to help him learn. A negative approach which undoubtedly hampers school work is picturing the teacher as a cross person, ready to scold the child.

As many physical handicaps as possible should be overcome and the child should be as healthy as possible before school. Tonsils, adenoids, poor teeth and weight should be looked after. Eyes and ears should be examined. Miss Pejerson stresses the fact that the six-year molar are permanent teeth and therefore require accurate care and repair.

Adjust Home Routine

Adjustments which might be made in the home routine are an after-school nap to take the place of the usual afternoon rest period; earlier bed-time since the child will have to be awakened in time to dress and have a good breakfast. More sleep instead of less during school months is suggested.

Miss Peterson commends self-help clothing since it makes the child independent and more self-confident. Self-confidence can be acquired prior to the school season by letting the child practice walking back and forth along the school route. Thus he will become accustomed to traffic signals, to meeting strange dogs or other animals.

Final precaution in keeping the child in prime health is a well planned lunch. Hot lunches are ideal, according to Miss Peterson, and every rural school with facilities for hot meal making will be repaid by the better attendance and health of the pupils.

Chats About Folks and Farming

By H. G. REMINGTON,
Farm Editor

Forty-four farmers, including a number from adjacent counties, are entered in the 10-acre corn growing contest sponsored by the Illinois college of agriculture and the Illinois Crop Improvement association, according to J. C. Hackleman, crops extension specialist of the college and secretary of the association. The state championship is held now by Clarence Baie, Waterman, De Kalb county, which has nine entries this year. Tazewell and McLean counties have four each; Livingston and Logan, three each; La Salle, Peoria, Mercer and Rock Island two each, and Whiteside, Lawrence, Warren, Sangamon, Henry, Platt, Winnebago, Douglas, Carroll, Ford, Vermilion, Pike and Champaign counties have one each. Winner of the contest will be announced at the farm and home week at the state college January 10 to 14. Baie last year produced an average of 119.6 bushels per acre and 85 per cent perfect corn.

Faced with ample supplies of cheap oats many farmers of this area are interested in this grain as feed for swine. The state college at Urbana offers a free circular on this subject, No. 414.

Raw tomato juice makes a delicious drink for summer. The tomatoes may be chopped up and passed through a potato ricer. If the juice is then strained through a cloth it has less pulp and is clearer.

Large supplies and lower prices of potatoes will probably continue during the remainder of this year, according to the United States department of agricultural economics.

Friday, September 17, is the date of the annual cattle feeders' day at the college of agriculture at Urbana. More than 1,000 cattle feeders are expected to attend.

"Farm Leases for Illinois," a recent circular published by the state college at Urbana states that improved farm leases mean better tenant farming and greater profits for both landlord and tenant. Advantages and disadvantages of leases are discussed in the circular, which may be obtained free of charge by writing the college.

A million-dollar exhibition of prize dairy cattle and Percheron horses has been arranged for the twenty-eighth annual National Dairy show at Columbus, Ohio, October 9 to 16. The dairy show proper will have 1,000 high-class animals, many of them record holders by right of previous competitions. An additional feature this year is the Percheron show, described as the greatest exhibit of the kind ever attempted. It is expected 400 Percheron horses will be on display.

In 1928 a top of $18.50 was paid for choice weight steers on the Chicago market. Last week a lot of choice weight steers were marketed at Chicago for $18.15, a new nine-year high.

John N. Weiss, vocational agriculture instructor of the Dixon high school, said several of his students will enter livestock at the FFA show at the fair grounds at Oregon September 10 and 11. Students from 22 high school agricultural departments are to compete in this show. Dixon high school boys took a number of first and other prizes at the 4-H show at Amboy.

Iowa farm lasses believe the ideal farm husband is a man whose income is at least $2,000 yearly, who doesn't smoke, who doesn't use alcohol, and is truthful. These views are the result of a referendum by the Iowa Rural Young Peoples organization among its girl members.

The federal soil conservation service finds there is plenty of land to grow more than the nation needs, and yet maintain fertility, control erosion, and maintain game birds and other wildlife disappearing from farm lands. Experts of the department point out that complete subjugation of the land is not necessarily good farming and that clean farming on sloping lands with rectangular fields, straight rows, no strip cropping, fences parallel to section lines and no shrubs, trees or permanent pastures, is a sure way to farm your land and lose it too.

A school for recreational chairmen of the various units of the Home Bureau of Bureau county will be conducted at the Farm Bureau auditorium at Princeton by an expert from the University of Illinois September 14.

Rochelle had a big turnout for the farm picnic held Thursday. The affair was sponsored by the business men of the city, who arranged an interesting program.

Events included hard and soft baseball contests, horseshoe pitching, greased pig and greased pole contests, races, tug of war, several acts of vaudeville, hog and husband calling contests, boxing events and a band concert. The sponsors provided free coffee for the picnic lunch at noon.

With some 900 Lee county farm owners or operators turning in cards to the office of the Lee County Soil Conservation association at Amboy requesting payments under the 1937 soil conservation program, 44 crop reporters have started the task of checking performance on these farms. The reporters attended a school of instruction to prepare them for this work.

Polo has set September 9 and 10 as the dates for its annual fall festival and good entertainment is promised. One of the features will be a horse show on the opening day. In addition to an exhibition of stallions there will be seven classes in which exhibitors will vie for cash and other prizes. In five of the classes cash prizes ranging from $3 to $8 will be offered the three winners in each class. This show is designed primarily for farmers of the vicinity. Another feature will be a hobby show in which ribbons will be awarded in several classes. There will be rides and other concessions, a parade on both days, a WLS show and dancing each evening. The women will have a flower show.

Recent rains have aided new seeding in Lee county. Some grasshopper damage is reported.

Farmers who do not have access to a power line may nevertheless install an electric fence about their fields. Several battery systems for supplying the needed current are now on the market.

Members of the Lee County Fair and Horse show association and others who contributed their bit toward making the fair and horse show a successful event from the standpoint of the visitors as well as the exhibitors are entitled to congratulations. The exhibits were among the best ever shown at a similar event in northern Illinois. The horse show ranked among the topnotchers of the middle west, and the management provided a good program of music, free novelty acts, rides, amusements, etc. With larger grounds available the association was able to expand this year and put on entertainment more comparable with the old-fashioned county fairs which always have been popular in Illinois, and even greater expansion is planned next year.

The folks who ate crow meat sandwiches at the state fair appear to have survived, but personally we would prefer beef or chicken as sandwich meat.

Hot, dry weather last week proved a handicap to farmers desiring to plow, but it did give some an opportunity to come into Dixon for the county fair. A good rain would prove helpful at this time, but this suggestion will not appeal to Bureau county fair officials.

The farm editor of the Lee County Times believes farmers can save money by producing their own hybrid seed corn. It means a lot of hard, painstaking work to produce good seed, and it is probable that hybrid corn seed will be cheaper as processors expand their operations in this territory. There should be a substantial reduction this next fall.

More than 500 persons, working in three shifts, are employed in the Mendota cannery and the sweet corn is expected to exceed earlier productions. The sweet corn in this area has been running three to six tons to the acre.

The 160-acre M. F. Searis farm, east of Princeton, brought $158.50 per acre at an auction sale last week.

A Mendota gardener has a freak tomato plant which is said to be producing both yellow and red tomatoes.

A concrete block corn crib with a capacity of 16,000 bushels is being built by John Haub of West Brooklyn on the farm operated by his son, Otto. It is claimed this is the biggest crib of the kind in the state. John Truckenbrod, east of Sublette, also is modernizing his building plant with a new concrete crib.

ing of the market for farm products and the purchasing power of the farmer when there are surplus farm crops.

Farmers again are warned not to plant winter wheat prior to the Hessian fly-free dates, which range from September 16 in the northern counties to September 28 in the southern counties. A field or two drilled too early will breed enough flies to infest surrounding fields the following spring.

The 67th annual Whiteside county fair opened today at Morrison and will continue through Friday, September 3. There will be livestock, agricultural and home products on exhibition, a full speed program each day, and lots of novelty entertainment. Tonight there is scheduled a Whiteside county broadcast for amateur talent. Tomorrow and Thursday afternoons and evenings radio station WLS will provide the entertainment programs, and the second annual horse show will take place in front of the grandstand Friday night.

Chicago will pay tribute to mid-west farmers with a farm week festival September 12-18 in connection with its charter jubilee. There will be a national farm olympiad, national champion pulling contest, a big farm parade through the loop, an old-time fiddlers' contest and many other items of entertainment including a big barn dance program.

Farmers of the county who are not eligible to borrow from the Production Credit association, banks or other concerns to finance seed grain purchases for the 1937 season may apply for emergency seed loans up to $400 to A. A. Shelton, field supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration. Applications may be made at the Farm Bureau office at Amboy. Security for such loans is a first lien on the crop financed.

Farms of Frank Scholl and Bert Boynton in Lee county and the Kaufman farm in the vicinity of Forreston will be visited on the soil conservation tour of Lee and Ogle county farmers September 8. The Lee county group will meet in the parking space near the Dixon Chamber of Commerce building at 8:15 a. m. the day of the tour.

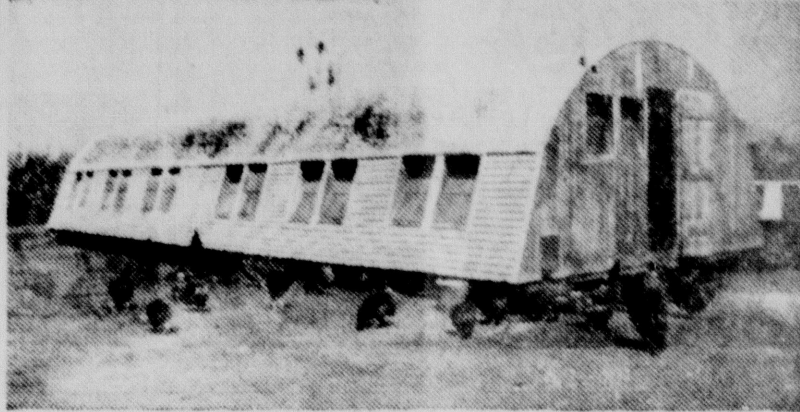

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Fortunately, we have one of the biggest grain crops most of us have ever seen. Probably it is one of the largest on record. Everyone is happy about it.

It means you will have all the feed you need for your stock this winter.

I'm just hoping that, having all this feed, we aren't going to forget the lesson we learned during

Raise Chickens Electrically

Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Vieth of Nelson, whose flocks are raised electrically, specialize in the Christie strain of New Hampshires, which are somewhat rare in the mid-west. Their exhibit at the Lee county fair and horse show attracted much attention and received favorable comment from poultry raisers. They have 125 laying and 100 young hens. Arcady feed is among the important items of the ration for their flock. Poultry breeders refer to the New Hampshires of today as the New Hampshire Reds of yesterday. The breed obtained its beginning in New Hampshire, where it has flourished beyond the fondest hopes of its sponsors. Today about 85 per cent of the flocks of that state are New Hampshires, and the drought years. Most of you were forced to buy at least a part of the feed for your chickens. Some of you had to buy all of it. If you were used to feeding your chickens an all grain ration, you probably were surprised to find how much faster they grew on this commercial feed.

Corn and oats and wheat are all wonderful feeds for chickens—or any other form of livestock. But fed alone, they make expensive gains and expensive eggs. They need to be supplemented.

Feed companies realize that when you have your own grain, there is no need for them to include it in the feed. So they have been making concentrates or balancers, which contain the things chickens need in addition to grain—minerals, cod liver oil, meat scraps and so on.

Your bins are full of oats and wheat and barley. And you're going to have plenty of corn. But giving the chickens more grain won't make up for what they lack if you don't feed them a concentrate to balance their ration.

Everyone seems to agree that the least expensive feed is the one on which your chickens grow most rapidly and your hens lay the most eggs. I know many of you have found that you have had much better results when you have fed a concentrate with your grain. I hope you will continue to do so.

Poor Farm May Cash On State Oil Boom

Vandalia, Ill., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Even the county poor farm may cash in on the southern Illinois oil boom.

Under an agreement between Fayette county and the Canadian-American Oil co., drilling for oil is scheduled to start Sept. 1 on a section of the poor farm property.

Royalties from the "black gold" if any, will go to the county.

OGLE COUNTY FAIR GETS UNDER WAY NEXT SATURDAY

Three Big Day and Night Shows Are Planned This Year

Ogle county's 84th annual fair is to open this year on Saturday, September 4. It will continue through Sunday and Monday, which is Labor Day. There will be evening shows Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Every school child will be admitted free on opening day, while all children under 12 years will not be required to pay an admission fee on other days. General admission will be 35 cents and autos 25 cents for the day shows and 25 cents for adults for the night shows. Autos may enter the grounds free for the night shows.

As usual the fair will have numerous exhibits of livestock, farm products, flowers and an innovation in the way of a school exhibit. There will be band concerts, free vaudeville acts, a horse show, radio show and a fine racing program.

Three harness races are scheduled for Saturday, opening day. The racing program, which starts at 1 P. M., includes a 2-17 pace, 2:24 trot and 2:19 trot. Purses of $200 and added money are offered in all races during the fair. The combined Forreston and Mt. Morris high school bands will play Saturday afternoon.

On Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, there will be a big free act and vaudeville show in front of the grandstand. Music will be provided by the champion Oregon Junior Drum and Bugle corps.

The big horse show with 22 classes and some of the best saddlers, jumpers and harness horses in the state will take place Sunday, beginning at 1 P. M. The Sunday evening show will be provided by radio station WJJD of Chicago with many nationally known stars.

On the afternoon of Labor day there will be three additional harness races, a 2:14 trot, 2:24 pace and 2:14 pace. Music will be furnished by the Rochelle Municipal band. In the evening of Labor day there will be a vaudeville show, a concert by the Oregon Junior Municipal band and big display of fireworks.

Farm Sports Meet To Attract Many From This Area

Many farm folks of Lee, Ogle and Bureau counties will be among the visitors to the second annual Illinois farm sports festival at the state college of agriculture at Urbana Friday and Saturday of this week. Hard and soft baseball teams will represent this area in competition at the big festival. The farmers' statewide trap shooting tournament on the opening day also will have many entries from this locality. The program includes rifle competition for women, track and aquatic events, horse shoe pitching, hog calling, rolling pin and other contests, a checkers tournament and other events. Prizes also will be given for the smilingest farmer, the largest farm family present and for other novelty features.

Oil Stove Should Receive Attention Says Safety Expert

Although the man about the house is directly responsible for fires during the winter months, mother takes the leading role in the little drama, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," during the summer, according to C. M. Seagraves, of the Illinois Agricultural association safety department. He urges farm homemakers to refrain from using the oil stove and leaving it unattended until it has developed a full blaze. Unattended stoves, he points out, lead to fires frequently, and often result in serious damage to the home. Oil stoves should not be left unattended even for a minute, moralizes the safety director.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY
New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes (in bushels): wheat increased 6,424,000; corn decreased 458,000; oats decreased 3,466,000; rye increased 1,429,000; barley increased 1,563,000.

PRINCETON NOW HOST TO BUREAU CO. ANNUAL FAIR

Exposition Opens Today With Fine Crowd and Exhibits

While Bureau county's 82nd annual fair did not get under way until this morning, many prospective visitors were given a preview of the fair grounds at Princeton last night, the occasion being a free song fete sponsored by the Bureau County Church Council. It was the first event of the kind ever to be held in Bureau county on the night prior to the opening of the fair.

The fair will continue through Friday of this week. President John C. Sweitzer of Ohio announced that the fair association had every possible foot of exhibition and display space on the grounds under lease and the fair promises to be the most successful since 1920.

John Tilley, veteran showman, has leased space with a 200-foot frontage and is operating all types of rides for thrill seekers. Many other midway features are interesting fair visitors.

At each session of the big fair there will be an exhibition by stars of Clyde S. Miller's rodeo and horse show. They include noted riders and ropers and some fine animals. Ace, the world's champion jumping horse, will be put through his paces by Earl Strauss, trick rider and roper.

To accommodate motorists visiting the fair the management has leased a lot adjacent to the fair grounds which will provide parking space for 200 cars.

Livestock and agricultural products are more numerous than in previous fairs. Band concerts and other free entertainment are important features. The exhibits of farm machinery and the automobile show have necessitated arrangements for overflow space.

A good racing program with larger purses than were offered last year will attract many lovers of the fast steppers Thursday and Friday afternoon.

Can Figures Lie?

By J. E. LE ROSSIGNOL
Dean, College of Business Administration, University of Nebraska

"Have you ever heard of the valley of dry bones?" queried Professor MacAndrew Cantile of his wise Scottie. "No? Then you should read your Bible Book of Ezekiel, chapter thirty-seven, or this copy of the 'Statistical Abstract of the United States: Dry as dust! Arid as the Mojave desert! But look at this little brochure, 'The Thirty Hour Week,' by my honorable friend, William Green, who has prophesied into the dry bones, put flesh on them, so to speak, and made them live. Now you are interested, Sandie, for I see your mouth water. 'Aweell! Mr. Green is showing the relation of these figures to the men and women employed in manufacturing in our country, many of whom have children to support and we doggies like you to feed, and he says that in the year 1929 they received in wages only 16.5 per cent of the 'value produced, the inference being that they should have received more. And then, knowing full well that these figures have no meaning at all unless one subtracts from the so-called 'value produced' the cost of the raw materials—the value of wheat from the value of flour, for example—he admits that in the same year the wage-earners received 36.4 per cent of the 'value added, while depicting the fact that in the year of depression 1933 they received only 30.8 per cent of that value, as though they were being defrauded of their fair share of the joint product by the greedy employers. 'Perplexing, is it not, this thing of 'value produced' and 'value added'? But you get it into your little mind, Sandie, if you want to understand what I am going to add by way of some more thought. 'Now I will tell you, Sandie, that

CAST OF CHARACTERS

KAY DEARBORN—heroine who inherits a yacht for vacation.
MELITA HOWARD—Kay's
roommate and confidante.
PRISCILLA DUNN—the third adventurer.
FORREST BROTHERS and GRANT HARPER—young scientists whose expedition turned out to be a rare experience.

Yesterday, the girls begin their vacation cruise and are quick to thrill to the rest of their experience. Then a huge white yacht passes them, leaving the "Chinook" wallowing in its wake.

CHAPTER V

MELITA and Priscilla crowded onto the bridge to observe the cause of all the disturbance.
Kay was valiantly trying to keep the "Chinook" on her course, but the little boat did a good deal of bobbing. But a second later the doughy motor was chugging merrily away again, and within a few minutes the "Chinook" had safely negotiated the pass. Kay thought it just as well not to inform Melita and Priscilla what could have happened. And she resolved never again to start on a cruise with such a slender knowledge of the things Jim Pike knew by second nature.

"Fairweather Cove ought to be about an hour from here," she told Melita. "That's where we'll spend the night. Jim Pike said it was a fine place to anchor."

"We sleep ashore?" asked Melita.

"We do not! We anchor the good ship, and roll gently to slumber
in our bunks."

"That sounds better," said Melita. "Once I tried spending a night in a sleeping bag—and never again!"

Kay was immensely relieved when she saw the unmistakable landmarks of Fairweather Cove which Jim Pike had described to her. "It's a perfect anchorage," he had said. "Almost land-locked.
It's popular with cruising yachts,
but you're not likely to have company this early in the season."

For the first time in her life Kay experienced that glorious feeling which every true boat lover knows —approaching a quiet berth at night after having brought the little ship over her course without mishap.

SUDDENLY she saw the narrow opening off to starboard, and from Pike's excellent description she knew, without consulting the chart, that this was her goal. She steered for the dead center of the entrance, as Jim Pike had advised.
Just inside, she was startled to see another boat—the big white yacht which had given them its wake earlier in the day! Now she dozed at anchor with no sign of life aboard.

"Drawing more water than the "Chinook," the yacht was anchored more in the center of the cove than Pike had advised for the "Chinook." Kay drew closer to shore, abeam of a grouping of evergreens.

Priscilla, nose pressed to the window of the pilot house, made a sound of disgust. "There's that confounded boat that tossed us around this morning!"

"Well," Melita said, "you hoped we'd see them again. Now's your chance to give them a piece of your mind."

Kay turned from the wheel. "If you two can manage to stop the conversation for a moment, I'd like to have you put down the anchor."

"You know," said Melita,
"you're probably the politest captain in the world." Dodging Kay's suddenly outstretched foot, she went forward.

Kay stopped the engine, but the little "Chinook" kept veering. Kay was forced to maneuver the boat into position again. "Are you sure you got that anchor down?" she asked Melita.

"Absolutely."

"It doesn't seem to be holding at all. I wonder—"

She was interrupted by a halloo from the side. All three girls looked from the pilot house.
Standing in a small dinghy was a good-looking young man in a white sweater and ducks, obviously from the fancy yacht.

"Ahoy there, 'Chinook,'" he called. "I see you're having a bit of trouble. Maybe I can help."

Kay slid the pilot house window down. "Thank you. The anchor doesn't seem to be holding."

The dark young man smiled. "I think I can explain that. I happened to see one of your crew let it go. And I noticed it's one of those new light-weight folding types. You see, the trouble is, you didn't unfold it before you tossed it over!"

Melita turned the color of a summer sunset.

"Just draw it up and unfold it,"
the young man advised. "Then let her down again and head the boat a little more into the wind. You'll be all right then."

"T-thanks," stammered Kay.
"Glad to be of help. Our boat is the 'Mistral.' We'd like to have you come aboard tomorrow for breakfast. Our cook makes the swellest flapjacks north of the Panama Canal."

"That's very nice of you," said Kay. "But we're pulling out at dawn tomorrow."

"Good cruising then," The young man resumed his seat in the dinghy and took up the oars.
"We may meet again further north."

Vandenberg Asks
For Law Taking
Profits from War

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg urges America's war veterans to insist upon immediate legislation to take the profit out of war.

"It may be hard on our cash registers but it will be easier on our sons," the Republican Senator from Michigan told delegates to the National Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Vandenberg said he sought "new rules which will take the dollar signs off our battle flags forever."

Entitling his speech "Peace For America," Senator Vandenberg outlined a formula for "Peace-factors" which he said would not guarantee America against war but would "immensely reduce the degree of hazard."

Besides new laws to take the profit out of war, he advised a ban on potential military partnerships, loans to belligerents, and munitions sales to belligerents.

He termed commercial shipments into belligerent ports an invitation to trouble with foreign powers, and also recommended that American citizens be prohibited from traveling belligerent ships.

"We must have no potential military partnerships," he said.
"We must be neither the world's policeman nor the world's pawn."

It has been calculated that the Maryland oyster lays 16,000,000 eggs, and if half of these were to develop into females which also laid eggs, there would be, in the fifth generation, enough oysters to make a mass eight times the size of the earth.

The Mattaponi river in New York gets its name from its four small tributaries: Mat, Ta, Po, and York harbor are kept free of mud and silt through the use of dredges.

Ex-Army Officer
Held For Killing
16 Year Old Son

Berkeley, Calif., Aug. 30.—(AP)—

Captain Donald William Page, 52, retired U. S. army officer, is being held for investigation as a result of the fatal shooting of his 16-
year-old son.

Detective Sergeant H. F. Whaley said Donald E. Page in a dying statement said his father shot him after an argument over a medal.

Captain Page insisted the shooting was accidental and occurred as he was demonstrating a army pistol.

Deputy District Attorney Arthur
Sherry said the Captain's 81-year-old mother, Mrs. Julia Page, substantiated the boy's story.

Sherry quoted Mrs. Page as saying her son and the boy quarreled because Captain Page gave a medal, originally belonging to the boy's mother, to some children.

34 Indicted For Bribery Charges

Denver, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Gov.

Teller Ammons said "I am as eager as anyone" to clear up a long series of bribery and wiretapping charges that reached its climax in indictment of nine men, including a former governor's secretary and four legislators.

A special grand jury returned 34 indictments Saturday after an 8-month inquiry that began with an investigation of the hiding of microphones in the governor's office. The bribery indictments alleged lobbying in connection with the defeat of the administration's state liquor monopoly bill in the recent general assembly.

Living stumps sometimes occur
when trees whose roots are grafted to other roots, are cut down; when this happens, the stump becomes capped over and continues to add annual rings.

islands makes no nest; it lays its eggs on a bare tree limb.

PATHS OF GLORY LEAD BUT TO THE GRAVE FOR LEVIATHAN

The Leviathan, war-time queen of the seas, transport-home for more than 200,000 American fighting men, ignominiously tugs at steel hawsers which shackle her to her old and once-famous pier (No. 4) on the Hoboken waterfront. Doughboys of 20 years ago, in New York this September for the annual American Legion convention, may perhaps drift over to see the old "Levi" for sentimental reasons. This is what they'll find:
At extreme left, the only gay things about her, her smokestacks, still kept freshly painted for preservation rise above the littered crumby decks of her once-immaculate top-side. At left center, a view of her officers' quarters, just abaft the bridge, once sacred to admirals, brass-hats of all services, and the officers of the watch, now turned over to the "stand-in crew" and the impudent seagulls. At right center, the "Imperial Suite," used by Queen Marie of Rumania on her visit to America; and, at extreme right, the sharp prow of the old "Levi" with seabirds nesting in her anchor chains. Outstanding News of Dixon and Vicinity in the Past

From The Dixon Telegraph

50 YEARS AGO
The Nachusa House Company is now making preparations for several additional and very material improvements to the hotel building. Arrangements are being made to cover the entire outer wall with grout, a preparation of cement that will give when lined and finished, the entire surface the appearance of an elegant brown stone front.
Leonard Andrus and Amos Bosworth took a drive into the southern part of the county yesterday.
The Dixon ball club will play two games with Oregon this week, here on Friday and in Oregon on Saturday. On Tuesday next they will play with Paw Paw at that place.

The list of provisions for the big New England barbecue and chicken fry to be given by the Elks at Watson's island Monday resembles the invoice of the commissary of some big army.
A. E. Pippert, well known and greatly loved citizen of Dixon, died at his home, 507 East Morgan street today.
Rev. Fr. J. S. Gallagher, for many years the priest of the Ambony parish, passed away Thursday night.

CHILDREN TO BE SEEN
On Thursday young Billy, age 10, was imagining himself as a "big engineer" on the latest type streamlined train; and Billy's father and mother, if you had asked them, would have told you with sincere modesty that their son would one day be the President of the United States.
That was Thursday—but today Billy is dead.
He was the victim of a careless driver who had failed the admonition: Children are to be seen—not hurt.

Billy, as it happens, didn't live in Dixon. He didn't even live in Illinois, but the fact remains that he might have. He might have been your neighbor, or even your child. Because he didn't happen to be doesn't lessen the alarm and shouldn't weaken the extreme care motorists must observe.
The National Safety Council, in a recent publication, announced that "traffic deaths of children under 15 years increased 7 per cent in 1936 over 1935." Increased!

Various driver's faults have been the causes: drinking, faulty automobiles, and carelessness.
What "extra" bottle of beer or "just another" drag on the pump is worth the life of a child?

What saved two minutes of your time is worth killing anyone? Are you in a hurry to snuff out a life?
All manner of articles such as "And Sudden Death" and others equally as grim are not enough to stop the menace. It has been said, and probably with a great deal of truth, that the worst offenders never read that sort of material anyway.

That would seem to toss the problem right in the lap of the person who does not realize the dangers of careless driving. It becomes the duty for that person to look after his own life and the life of others.
At some time or other we have all been passengers in a car which is speeding dangerously over a country road or taking city corners "on two". It is then that we have the chance to lessen the danger by sharp, even a snarly caution to the driver.

Too many times, of course, the dangerous driver is alone. Constant hammering at the head of this driver whenever he is around, either in a car or out, finally may impress him. It might be possible even to shame him with accounts of his "lousy" driving. No method can be too tactless to save a life.
With Dixon schools opening next week, the time is ripe to repeat the caution to all local motorists: Save young Dixons for future Dixon.

ON LIQUOR SALES

Arthur S. Smith, chairman of the State Liquor Control commission, said at a liquor dealers meeting yesterday in Bloomington: "The man who sells to minors and drunkards ought not to have a license."

If the Dixon saloon keeper who recently was forced to pay one of his patrons $125 had observed this rule he could have saved himself considerable publicity and cash involved.
Talk from now to Judgment Day and nothing can be said in favor of liquor.

OBITUARY

LESTER LEROY RHODES

(Contributed)

Lester Leroy Rhodes, son of Fred and Nellie Rhodes, was born in South Dixon township on Sept. 4, 1898, and passed away in Dixon on Saturday morning, August 28, 1937, at the age of 38 years, 11 months and 24 days. His early life was spent on the farm south of Dixon. All of his life was spent in or near Dixon except 2 years spent in Arizona. Since returning from Arizona he was employed for the past ten years as bookkeeper at the Beiler bakery.

On March 19, 1923 he was united in marriage to Julia E. Wells of Dixon. To this union were born two sons: Harold LeRoy, age 13 years, and John Frederick, age 8 years. Besides his wife and sons he leaves to mourn his departure his mother, Mrs. Nellie Rhodes, and four sisters, Mrs. Josephine Rambeau, Miss Florence Rhodes, Mrs. Dorothy Kitson, and Miss Hazel Rhodes. He was preceded in death by his father who passed away in May 1925 and by one sister Winifred Mae, who died in infancy. A host of relatives and friends will likewise miss the companionship of one whom this community can ill afford to lose.

Our brother's early religious training was in the Emmanuel Evangelical church in South Dixon where he was converted to the Christian way of life as a young man and united with the church. On removing to Dixon he transferred his membership to the Grace Evangelical church, affiliation with which he continued to the time of his passing.

The tribute which those would make who knew him best was that he was a thoughtful and devoted husband and father and son, exemplary in character, a lover of the Bible and good literature, industrious, sociable in the several areas of life, but finding his highest fellowship in his home and the church of Jesus Christ. With the full commitment of his life into the keeping of Him who worketh all things well there came a peace of mind and heart that sustained him through the weeks of his final struggle. He has "fought the good fight," he has "finished his course."

Mrs. Chas. June spent Wednesday visiting in Rockford.

He has entered into that life beyond life, for "Something sacred whispered from the skies. Then something deathless looked from dying eyes."

MRS. MAE GILBERT

(Sioux Falls, S. D. Argus Leader)
Mrs. Etta Mae Gilbert, 55 years old, 1013 East Eighth st., died suddenly late Thursday afternoon at a local hospital, the result of a hemorrhage of the brain. Mrs. Gilbert had been a Sioux Falls resident 32 years.

She was born in Dixon, Ill., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hill, and from that place moved to Durand, Ill., and thence to Sioux Falls. She was married to Grover C. Gilbert at Dixon in 1905. Mrs. Gilbert attended the Presbyterian church and was a member of the Maccabees.

Surviving are her son, Elroy, of Sioux Falls; daughter, Gladys, who lives at home; three sisters, Mrs. Lila Atkinson, Sioux Falls; Mrs. Harry Fults and Mrs. Lee Mathias, both of Dixon, Ill., and her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Hill, Dixon, Ill.

Mrs. Gilbert was preceded by death by her father and three sisters.

G-Men Breaking Up White Slave Ring

Chicago, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Miss Betty Winston, 24, of Joliet, Ill., was held to the federal grand jury under $1,000 bond after she waived examination on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Mann act.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Martin Ward said Miss Winston, Joseph Barrett and James Mabry Albin were arrested in connection with an investigation by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of an alleged white slave ring.

Barrett and Albin were arrested two weeks ago in Louisville, Ky., on conspiracy charges. They were held under bond for that grand jury. Miss Winston was arrested at the supposed Joliet headquarters of the ring.

Ward said agents had learned the alleged ring operated in a number of Illinois towns and in Louisville.

A boa constrictor in the Paris zoo was fed only 36 times in seven years.
